KNIGHTS PARADED

Pittsburgers Never Saw the Like of Yesterday.

IT WAS AN IMMENSE ASSEMBLAGE

Viewed the Demonstration From Many Points of Vantage—Even the Downfall of Rain Did Not Interfere.

OPENING OF THE GREAT CONCLAVE

PITTSBURG, October 12.—The parade of the twenty-seventh triennial conclave of Knights Templar is now an event of history. Whatever had been anticipated in the way of gorgeousness and splendor and all-round success was amply realized—that is, all but the rain, which was not expected. But even at that, it was the grandest parade ever held in this city from whichever view one may take it. In point of numbers, there were 20,000 marchers in line, it easily doubled similar occurrences of the past, and as far as the appearance of the men, their uniforms, the trappings of their horses, as well as the perfection of their movements, were concerned, Pittsburg has never seen anything to equal it. The day started with not a cloud in the sky and long before the booming cannon announced the start of the marchers there was a multitude of people packed together in an impenetrable crowd along the line, extending from the heart of Allegheny City over into Pittsburg, out Fifth avenue to Schenley park, a distance of seven miles. The number of onlookers on the streets, in the windows, on the roofs and in the reviewing stands has been variously estimated from 500,000 to 1,000,000 people.

At 10 o'clock the wonderful cavalcade completed its formation and the march began, and three hours later the last detachment passed the same point. The rain commenced at 1:30 o'clock, and for a while it looked as if the parade might be broken up, but the knights walked along with the same spirit and displayed the same martial and dignified bearing in the rain as they had done under the shining sun. The crowd soon began to reorganize and the volleys of cheers and applause that had been thunderous before, now burst forth in perfect tornadoes. Such encouragement could not but have its effect, and the result was the line remained unbroken until the end came. The arrangements were perfect.

The social features of the conclave took place last night at the Duquesne Garden. This was the reception exclusively for members of the different Knights Templar commanderies and no laymen or any one except ladies, without a templar uniform, was admitted. The guest of honor was Grand Master of the Grand Encampment Warren Larue Thomas. After the reception there was a grand ball and the gathering did not break up until after midnight. Duquesne Garden is an immense building and it is estimated that more than 8,000 knights with their ladies attended the reception.

Immediately after the parade the formal opening of the twenty-seventh triennial conclave of the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States of America, took place in Carnegie Music hall.

Chairman Wigley, of the reception committee, introduced Mayor Ford, who welcomed the Grand Master and Sir Knights to Pitttburg in a few appropriate remarks. The mayor was followed by Grand Commander H. H. Kuhn, of Pennsylvania, and Sir Knight Lee S. Smith, chairman of the local executive committee, both of whom indulged in a few words of welcome to the meeting.

Grand Master Thomas was then formally introduced, whereupon he delivered the annual address.

After the formal opening the Grand Master ordered the roll call, and the organization of the grand encampment took place. Thereafter the reports of Grand Treasurer Lines and General and Recorder Mills were read and referred to the proper committees.

The meeting adjourned to reconvene at 10 o'clock this morning. When the election is taken up on Thursday the officers will be moved up in rank, each a point, except the Grand Recorder, who holds his office permanently. The Grand Prelate may be advanced. His term of office does not expire triennially, but there is a movement to change the constitution as regards this office. A Grand Junior Warden is to be elected, and for this office Sir Knight Lee S. Smith, of this city, is suggested.

To Look After the Soldiers.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct., 10.—Gov. Hastings and Col. Ezra H. Ripple, of Scranton, commissary general of the National Guard, will go to New York tonight to look after the sick and injured of the Fourth and Sixteenth Pennsylvania regiments on their arrival Tuesday from Porto Rico on the transport Obdam. A hospital train will meet the transport at the Bay street wharf, Jersey City, and bring the invalid soldiers to Philadelphia hospitals. The governor and Colonel Ripple will go by the quartermaster's boat, Meigs, in charge of Major Appell, to quarantine station to meet the transport. The arrangements for the trip are in charge of Adjutant General Stewart and Major Richardson, keeper of the state arsenal. The executive sent the following telegram today to Surgeon General Sternberg:

"I am informed that the transport Obdam will arrive in New York harbor next Tueaday afternoon with considerable volunteer invalid service from Porto Rico belonging to the Fourth and Sixteenth regiments Pennsylvania volunteers. We are anxious to have the Pennsylvania soldiers brought direct from the transport to Philadelphia hospitals, and to that end I have the honor to request that you will direct Major Richards to have the army hospital train at Bay street wharf, Jersey City, on arrival of transport and convey them to Philadelphia. I will be on hand to assist on arrival of transport. Please answer.

Elkin on Arrest of Quay.

Republican State Chairman John P. Elkin, who attended a political meeting held at Indiana, Pa. Monday evening Oct. 3., had this to say regarding the legal proceedings against Senator Quay and others:

"'Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad.' The arrest of Senator Quay, his son, and Haywood and McKee is the dying echo of desperate and reckless opposition. After the head of a chicken has been cut off and the body thrown on the ground, the headless fowl makes one last effort to flutter about before it lies cold in death. This arrest business is the last flutter. The whole scheme will act as a boomerang. It is desperation gone mad. The sense of fair play for which the American people are noted will set the stamp of its disapproval upon those responsible for such tactics at the polls in November.

A Woman Dies of Alcoholism.

Mrs. Maury, of Danville, a woman addicted to the use of alcoholic stimulants, left that town Wednesday while intoxicated for Wilkesbarre. She left the train at Shickshinny for the purpose of procuring whiskey. In her drunken condition she wandered aimlessly around the town until she stumbled and fell along the roadside. She was found in an helpless condition by several boys. She was taken to the police headquarters. A physician was summoned, but he could do nothing for her. She died the next morning the victim of alcoholism. She was well dressed.

House and Barn Burned.

A few days ago the house, barn and outbuildings of John Messmer, in Brush Valley, were totally destroyed by fire with all their contents. The fire started in the barn, Mr. Messmer having gone there with a lantern to attend to feeding his stock. The lantern exploded and the barn was soon in flames. The loss is total, as there was no insurance.

Tunnelled Themselves Out.

Henry McVay and Fred Hawkins escaped from the Potter county jail Wednesday night by tunnelling under the jail yard gate. They left a note on the outside of the prison gate in which they bade good bye to Sheriff Gillon, stating that they were headed for Klondike.

NAVY WAS PREPARED!

Surgeon General Van Reypen Makes His Report.

DEPARTMENT WAS NOT ASLEEP

Instead It Began to Prepare for Any Emergency Shortly After the Blowing Up of the Battleship Maine.

DESERVED TRIBUTE TO WOMEN

WASHINGTON, October 10.—Probably no better illustration can be found of the foresight exhibited by the navy in preparing for the war than is afforded by the history of the medical corps during the struggle. This is set out in the annual report of the surgeon general, W. K. Van Reypen, which is the first of the navy bureau reports to be submitted for publication.

Surgeon General Van Reypen begins with a modest tribute to the good judgment and foresight of his predecessor, General Tryon, who in putting in order and equipping the several naval hospitals, was of incalculable service to the bureau, enabling it to properly care for the sick or wounded of the navy during the war. When the Maine was blown up Surgeon General Van Reypen was in charge of the bureau and began preparations immediately for any contingency. The hospitals were fully equipped, plans were prepared for pavilion wards, and the naval laboratory prepared to furnish medical and surgical supplies in any quantity. No additional expense was incurred until war seemed imminent, then every vessel likely to be engaged was given a full outfit of medical and surgical supplies in any quantity. No additional expense was incurred until war seemed imminent, then every vessel likely to be engaged was given a full outfit of medical supplies for war. In anticipation of a large increase of the navy proper outfits were made ready and boxed for a large number of ships ready for call.

"There has not been an instance during the war," says the surgeon general, "of any vessel having had to wait for her medical stores."

It was known that the medical corps was inadequate in number for war, yet there was no law authorizing the employment of medical officers. But medical boards were sent out in anticipation to the principal cities to examine applicants for appointment and as a consequence when war broke out the medical department had at hand from which to make selections of volunteer surgeons a long list of well educated men and thirty-seven of these were appointed out of 2,000 applications. Surgeon General Van Reypen says.

"They have rendered efficient service and have been a credit to the navy. Some have had unusual and trying experiences, but they have accommodated themselves to their environments."

Only one medical officer was killed during the war—Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs, who fell at Guantanamo, serving with the marine battalion.

The medical department had long desired to establish a hospital service at sea on a specially selected vessel and the approach of war gave it an opportunity to demonstrate the wisdom of its propositions and the efficiency of its methods. The steamer Creole was purchased and with the valuable assistance of Naval Constructor Woodward was converted into an ambulance ship within sixteen days, fitted with every appliance of modern surgery, disinfecting apparatus, cold storage, laundry and elevator. She was a pioneer in her work indicating a step in advance that it well become the United States to take. The report gives a succinct history of the valuable services rendered by the Solace in caring for the sick and wounded. On every trip she went loaded with medical stores and supplies and also with delicacies and comforts which had been supplied in abundance for the sick and wounded by generous and patriotic individuals and societies from every part of the United States says the surgeon general: "In this war woman has done her perfect work and the medical department of the navy is profoundly grateful for the money contributed and supplies furnished for the aid of the sick and wounded of the navy. Patriotic women have ably supplemented the efforts of the government and their assistance has been thoroughly appreciated." In this connection the report calls attention to the fact that as soon as war was declared the daughter of Secretary Long and three of her associates at the John Hopkins medical school volunteered their services as nurses and were assigned to duty in the hospital.

The Democrats—The Senatorship.

The Democrats are very much worried about how the Republican candidates for the legislature are going to vote on the United States senatorial question, which is virtually conceeding their election. In order to stir up strife among the Republicans so as to let the Democratic nominees for the legislature in, they have paid a Democrat of several years' standing, Brit Steel, to carry apetition around for Republicans to sign, asking Messrs. Daley and Townsend who they are going to vote for, for United States senator? This is rightdown impertinence and for pure gall unsurpassed by any low down politics ever practiced. Messrs. Daley and Townsend are Republicans, and as such will be found voting, when the time comes, for the Republican nominee of the joint Republican caucus of the members of the legislature. As Republicans they could do nothing else. If the Democratic legislative nominees should be elected they would be found voting for the Democratic caucus nominee, who would be a Democrat. That is all there is about it, and we don't believe there is a dozen Republicans in the county who will permit the Democrats to pull the wool over their eyes on this question.

New Mailing Rules.

Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith has modified previous rulings of the department in definition of third class mail matter. Under this latest ruling, all impressions obtained on paper or cardboard by means of printing, engraving, lithography, or any other mechanical process easy to recognize, except the typewriter letter or manifold copy are held to be printed matter, if not in the nature of an actual and personal correspondence.

Matter prepared by the typewriter must be regarded as personal correspondence and unmailable at third class rates of postage, but the fac simile copies of manuscript or typewriting obtained by a mechanical process are assimulated to printing, and may be regarded as third class matter, provided they are presented for mailing at the post office windows and in minimum number of twenty perfectly identical copies. If mailed elsewhere or in less number, postage at first rate must be required.

Fell From His Engine.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 10.—E. R. Bacon, of Tunkhannock, fireman on the Lehigh Valley railroad, fell from his engine at Penn Haven Junction Thursday night and sustained a compound fracture of the skull. He was brought to the Wilkesbarre hospital where he died this morning.

The Brute.

"You have got both of us into rare trouble, Tina. How could you sign my name to a check and get it cashed?"

"But the law made us one, and so I'm as much you as I am myself."

"Well," if that's so I'm going to sell all my necklaces, bracelets, and rings and make up the matter straight again."—Pick-Me-Up.

Frank Hartman, of Worth, Mercer county, while hunting set his gun against a tree, when his dog ran against the gun and Hartman was shot and very seriously wounded.

SAD HOME COMING

That of President McKinley and Wife to Canton.

THERE WERE MANY AT THE DEPOT

Mrs. McKinley Showed Many Signs of Fatigue, But Bore Up Bravely Under the Very Trying Ordeal.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE MONDAY

CANTON, O., October 10.—The home coming of President and Mrs. McKinley yesterday for the funeral of Mr. George D. Saxton was attended with a most touching and pathetic scene at the Pennsylvania station. Many people were at the depot when the train arrived and extended the party a silent but sympathetic and reverential welcome. The party arrived on the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago express at 10:25 o'clock, traveling in the special car "Campania." Mr. Barber, the president's brother-in-law, was at the station with several friends of the family and Dr. Framfeulter, who was called to take charge of Private John Barber, the sick soldier.

The president and Mrs. McKinley were first out of the car and were assisted through the station to the carriage in waiting. As they approached the crowds, with heads uncovered and bowed, opened a passage way through which they passed. Mrs. McKinley was supported by the arm of the president with the care and close attention he always devotes to her personal comfort. He walked slowly to the carriage, his head bowed and his face a little paler than usual. Mrs. Barber, Mrs. McKinley's sister, was next off the train and was joined by her husband. Webb C. Hayes followed. John Barber was carried from the train by his brother, George Barber, who had gone from New York to Washington to join the party, and by G. C. Clark. The sick man was an orderly on General Henry's staff in Porto Rico and has for some weeks been ill with typhoid in Washington, where his mother, Mrs. Barber, and Mrs. McKinley have been nursing him, first at the white house and later at Garfield hospital. Miss Helen McKinley, the president's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart A. Bowman, of Lorrain, the latter the president's neice, who started with the party from Washington, stopped at Pittsburg to take another road.

The president and party went direct to the Barber home, which is the old Saxton homestead and was the Canton home of the McKinleys during his stay in congress. Mrs. McKinley soon laid down for a little rest, and at 9:30 dinner was served to the family. Mrs. McKinley showed evidence of the sufferings from the shock and of fatigue from the journey, but bore up remarkably well and was able to be about the house. Mrs. Barber showed evidence of her cares and concern for the son she had been nursing, and also of the shock of the news, but also bore up well. Both sisters and the president viewed the remains, which look natural, none of the marks of the tragedy being exposed on the face.

The funeral arrangements were concluded after the arrival of the party. They were held from the Barber home at 2 o'clock this Monday and were private. Rev. G. B. Milligan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, and the remains were attended by Judge Geo. E Baldwin, Hon. W. A. Lynch, Postmaster G. B. Freare, J. B. Kenney, and Attorneys David B. Smith and James J. Grant as pallbearers. Interment was made in he West Lawn cemetery in the Saxton family lot.

The train bearing the cabinet and other officials from Washington to the Omaha exposition will arrive in Canton this evening and about 9 o'clock the private car of the president will be attached thereto and he will join the party. Mrs. McKinley, it is not thought, will undertake the trip to Omaha, but will meet the president in Chicago. She will remain in Canton for several days.

Yesterday brought no new developments in the tragedy. Mrs. George remained in jail and has seen no one but Mayor Rice during the day. He was with her for five minutes. The hearing was arranged for 10 o'clock this morning. The coroner resumed the taking of testimony to day.

Fire at Clearfield.

At Clearfield Wednesday the paint room and offices at the Clearfield Manufacturing company were completely destroyed by fire. Loss about $10,000; partially insured.

COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE.

The Bell Telephone Exchange Never to be Closed.

For several years past two of our local companies, the Edison Light company and the Bell Telephone company have been doing a service for the citizens of Bellefonte which is of incalculable value, and yet there are many who do not give them the proper credit. We refer to the fire alarm system now in vogue here. Whenever there is a fire the telephone is at once resorted to, the electric light works are notified and an alarm for the fireman is sounded giving the exact ward in which the fire is raging. The fire companies by means of the telephone are enabled to call up the livery stables and in a few minutes horses are procured to haul their engines.

It is a well known fact that at the unseemingly hour of 2 o'clock in the morning a fire has broken out the Bell people were notified and in 3 minutes after the fire was discovered the alarm at the electric light works was sounding.

The people of our town should consider the great service done by these companies, especially, as it is done without money and without price.

On last Sunday a week ago, there was a fire on Beaver street. It happened between 8 and 9 o'clock, an hour when the telephone exchange was closed, and for that reason the fire companies were late in reaching the scene. All of which shows the vital importance of the service rendered by these companies.

For some time past Superintendent W. L. Malin of the Bell Telephone company with commendable enterprise has been working with his people to have the exchange at this place kept open all the time. Monday morning he gave a reporter for this paper authority to announce that on and after Sunday Oct., 16th the Bell telephone exchange at this place would never be closed.

The result is that there will be no danger of any trouble about turning in an alarm like there was at the Beaver street fire.

Mr. Malin and the telephone company are to be congratulated on the enterprise and public spirit which they have shown in this matter, and the people of Bellefonte owe them a debt of thanks. Hats off to Superintendent W. L. Malin and the Bell Telephone company.

Wealthy Lumber Dealer Found Dead

SHARON, Pa., October 11.—Stephen Phenicle, of Transfer, Mercer county, a wealthy lumber dealer, was found dead near here yesterday morning, near the Erie railroad tracks. His head was crushed in and it is believed he was murdered and his body placed on the track to cover the crime. He is known to have had considerable money, but none was found on his person.

The Blistered Arm Tramps.

The "war tramp" is abroad. He blisters his arm with acid and goes up to a back door with a pitiful tale of hardships he has suffered. At the same time exhibits the arm and it seldom fails to bring something. He is a fraud and his class are working all over the country.

Death at Hublersburg.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roller, relict of John Roller, of near Fillmore, died at the home of her son, Benner W. Rumberger, at Hublersburg, on Wednesday, October 5th. The cause of her death was a general breaking down consequent from old age. She was a sincere Christian lady and fully prepared to meet her Maker. She is survived by four children of her first husband, Martin F. Rumberger. They are Mrs. Susan Smith, of Chester Hill; Benner W., Hublersburg; James R., Altoona, and Jennie, in Canada. The children of her second husband, John Roller, are Ada and Elmer E., both in Ohio. The services were held at the house early Saturday morning and interment made in Gray's burying ground, in Half Moon, at noon.

Will Be Abandoned.

It now seems to be an undisputed fact that the old Pennsylvania Canal, through the Juniata Valley, will be abandoned by the next session of the Legislature. There are many people of the State who have pleasant memories of this waterway for freight transportation in days gone by, when well-known canal boatmen made periodical trips. The towpath was trod by many who have since drifted into other and more prominent vocations.

Turned Up a Half Century Later.

Last week one day a land turtle was found near Anthony Garver's home, west of Centre Hall, upon the shell of which John Bruss had cut his name and year 1851. He is a brother of Samuel Bruss, and little idea did he have over 47 years ago that the reptile would turn up alive and well at this time. The turtle was turned loose again.

—Robert F. Hunter is at work filling up the mustering out blanks for the members of Co. B, 5th Regt. U. S. V. It is the intention to insert the name of each soldier on his discharge certificate in old English lettering, so that the papers will have an artistic appearance.

—The mustering out of Co. B, 5th regiment U. S. V., is supposed will be made on Tuesday, October 18th. If that date prove correct one of the soldier boys intends having a farewell entertainment in Garman's opera house. It will consist of the wonderful "Warrograph" showing camp scenes at Chickamauga and Lexington and some of the best features from the Vaudeville that made such a hit here last spring. The Vaudeville numbers that are assured thus far are the spectacular march militaire and the act from the opera of Paul Jones.

THE SECOND DAY'S WORK

Continuation of the Christian Endeavor Convention.

SEVERAL REPORTS WERE READ

There Are 1,256 Junior Societies With a Membership of 60,288—Prize Banner Presented to Juniata County.

VARIOUS TOPICS WERE DISCUSSED

HARRISBURG, Pa., October 6.—The second day of the great Christian Endeavor state convention saw the influx of many more delegates and visitors to the gathering. The first service of the day was a sunrise prayer meeting at 6:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. A. Hollenbaugh, of Altoona. This was followed by a forty-five minute "quiet hour" at 8 o'clock. Rev. Charles E. Robinson, of Scranton, was in charge.

The open service in the immense convention hall was of a devotional character and was conducted by Rev. J. H. McMullen, of Harrisburg. The singing was conducted by Henry C. Lincoln, of Philadelphia. Following this service Rev. S. G. Hunter, of Macon, Miss., gave an entertaining talk on the work of alleviating the illiteracy of the negroes of the south.

Secretary George McDonald, of Altoona, in the absence of Thomas R. Patton, Jr., of Philadelphia, read the report of the corresponding secretary as the first of the reports from the department commanders. Miss Cordelia Jamison, of Beltzhoover, reported on the junior work in the state. The number of junior societies is 1,256, and their membership 60,288. The collections for the year amounted to $22,723.60. At the close of the year the banner for the largest increase in junior membership was presented to Superintendent Cassel in behalf of Juniata county. Rev. W. J. Shannon, of Allegheny, read the report of the Superintendent of missionary work. Rev. Edwin H. Romig, of Lebanon, read the report of the superintendent of Christian citizenship, and Rev. Charles A. Oliver of York, supreintendent of evangelistic work, gave an interesting report of the operations of this department the past year.

The morning session was concluded with a conference and prayer service directed by Rev. Mr. Oliver, in which a number of prayers were offered and the convention sang without accompaniment a verse of "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

After the opening song service of the afternoon devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. M. P. Hocker, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Steelton. This was followed by an address by ex-President A. B. Philputt, of Indianapolis, Ind.

The open parliament on "The Enlistment and the Equipment and Drill of Our Endeavor forces" was opened by Thomas F. Wells, of Scranton. Rev. J. W. Romich, Chicoro, spoke on "The Enlistment of Forces," Rev. J. W. Manninger, of Lancaster, discussed the question of the "Equipment and Drill of Forces." The afternoon services closed with the annual sermon, delivered by Rev. Joseph W. Cochran, jr., of Philadelphia.

The evening service in the convention hall was opened with a fifteen minute song service followed by devotional exercises led by Rev. J. W. Deshong, of Harrisburg. Addresses on the following subjects were made; "The Flag of Our Country and the Banner of Christ," by Rev. W. J. Coleman D. D., Allegheny; "The Christian Citizen" by Rev. A. R. Bartholomew, D. D., Pottsville, and Secretary John Willis Baer, Boston.

The following program was observed at an evangelistic service last evening at Market Square Presbyterian church conducted by Rev. W. H. McMullen, D. D., Allegheny; song service, devotional exercises led by Rev. J. H. Thomas, Harrisburg; addresses, Secretary John Wills Baer singing, Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Lowe; address, Rev. Charles R. Erdman, Germantown.

Big Firemen's Parade.

LEBANON, Pa., Oct 7.—Thirty thousand persons saw the state firemen's parade yesterday. The parade moved in seven divisions and included companies from Philadelphia, Lebanon, Reading, Harrisburg, Scranton and many other places. Seventy-five fire companies and twenty bands were in line.

The following prizes were distributed last night:

Prize $50, largest uniformed company, won by Columbia Fire company, of Columbia, 104 men.

$30, finest hook and ladder truck, Washington Hook and Ladder company, of Mahanoy City.

THE Republican county ticket is an excellent one throughout and is composed of men who will perform their duties, if elected, with fidelity to the public.

"There is so much trouble coming into the world," said Lord Bolingbroke, "and so much more in going out of it, that it is hardly worth while to be here at all." If a man and a philosopher comes to this conclusion, what must be the natural conclusion of the thousands of suffering women who undergo untold torture in bringing their babes into the world?

Philosophy of this kind is based upon gross ignorance. The fact is, that there is no necessity for the severe pangs undergone by the average woman. If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the majority of women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can always be remedied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, speedy and permanent cure for all disorders of this description. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic. It banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good."

"I suffered fourteen years," writes Mrs. Mary J. Stewart, of Box 46, Saratoga, Santa Clara Co., Cal., with female weakness, nervousness and general debility. I tried everything to no avail. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me."

Our Candidate for Senator.

William A. Osborn, our candidate for State Senator, was born in Washington township, Jefferson county, March 11, 1863. He came to DuBois with his folks on the 14th of April, 1877, and has resided there ever since that time.

He was married to Miss Maggie Taylor, of DuBois, Aug. 31, 1882. He has a good common school and a thorough business education, and is looked upon by those who know him as a man of wise views; and his integrity is not questioned.

Mr. Osborn, through the assistance of George Schwen, started in the real estate business as an agent early in life, and they succeeded in negotiating considerable property, among the most important being a large tract of pine timber in Warren county, owned by Dunham & Son, and sold to P. B. Crider & Son of Bellefonte Pa. Aside from the real estate, Mr. Osborn has been engaged to considerable extent in the lumber business, and also now owns some of the most desirable real estet in Du Bois, where he has served for a number of years as a member of the town council, and has always been ready to assist in any project for the interest of his town and community, and if elected will do as much for his district. The people will not make any mistake if they elect Mr. Osborn to the Senate.

To Punish the Guilty.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7.—Governor Hastings has requested Attorney General McCormick to take immediate steps for the punishment of those who have violated the mining laws at the Umpire mine, near Brownsville, which resulted in the death of eight coal miners. The governor's action is based on a report of the disaster by Robert Brownlee, chief of the bureau of mines, who visited the scene of the accident on September 25 by direction of the executive. Mr. Brownlee submitted his report yesterday and the governor immediately endorsed it and requested the attorney general to institute proceedings. The mine chief made a personal examination of the mine and its surroundings and agrees with the coroner's jury that the mine officials were to blame for the accident.

He reports that the mine superintendent and the mine foreman knew that there was gas in the mine. The fire boss reported it to the foreman, Mr. Brownlee adds, but in their zeal to get out more coal they allowed the men to work in a dangerous place, resulting in an explosion of gas, killing eight men and injuring several others.

The chief does not consider the method of mining at the Umpire mine the best for the safety of the employes, nor is it the best that could be adopted for securing the greatest portion of the coal. He took part at the coroner's inquest and is having a copy of the evidence prepared for the governor.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A School Decision.

A western judge has decided that school boards have no legal right to refuse children from attending the public schools after they have attained the required age of 6 years. The case was taken into court by the parents of a child who, having become 6 years old after the beginning of the term, started to school but was not accepted. The parents were notified that the child would have to remain away until the beginning of the following term. This is a rule which prevails in many cities, but Judge Gest says a child has the right to begin any time after having attained the acceptable age means pain, danger and possible death for some wives. For others it means practically no discomfort at all. There is no reason why childbirth should be a period of pain and dread. Several months before a woman becomes a mother she should prepare herself for the critical ordeal. There is a preparation made which is intended for this purpose alone.

The name of this wonderful preparation is Mother's Friend.

It is a liniment to be applied externally. It relaxes the muscles and relieves the distension, gives elasticity to every organ concerned in childbirth, and takes away all danger and nearly all suffering. Best results follow if the remedy is used during the whole period of pregnancy. It is the only remedy of the kind in the world that is endorsed by physicians.

Resolutions of Respect.

HALF MOON GRANGE No. 290.
Sept., 24, 1898.

Died near Port Matilda Sept., 9th 1898 Martha F. Thompson wife of Robert C. Thompson aged 37 years.

WHEREAS it hath pleased our allwise and ever ruling Creator to remove from our midst our beloved sister Martha F. Thompson and

WHEREAS we feel in this as well as in all other evidences of this ruling power to bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father yet we realize that in the death of sister Thompson we have lost a valued member of our grange. Therefore be it

Resolved that we individually and as a body extend to her bereaved husband and children our heartfelt and sincere sympathy in this their time of sore trouble directing them for counsel to Him who hath said "those who put their trust in me I will in no wise cast off."

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be presented to Bro. Robt. C. Thompson, that they be recorded as a part in the work of our grange and that a copy be sent to the Patron for publication. Also in view of the esteem, in which sister Thompson was held as a member of our order we deem it expedient that our charter be draped in mourning for a space of 30 days.

—For the first time in 10 years the machine shops of the Reading, R. R. at Reading, have been put on double turn. For the past two weeks the 2,000 men in the several departments have put in eight hours a week overtime. We were not hearing such reports two years ago, when the election of McKinley and a Republican congress was being fought by Bryan and free silver, and free trade Democracy. Keep up the good record—give McKinley another Republican congress.—Easton Free Press.

RUSSIA'S peace proposition may be as insincere as the astute statesmen of other countries evidently believe, but even if that were so, it is all the more reason why it should be received with favor and acted upon in good faith. If the other nations were to enter upon this scheme with genuine enthusiasm it would either be consummated or the bad faith of Russia would be made plain before all the world. In that event public sentiment would crush her politicians and their plans.

A Headless Body.

Late Tuesday night railroaders, while switching in the Falls Creek yards, found the headless body of a man lying beside the B. R. and P. tracks. Near the body was found the severed head.

The DuBois Courier says: A quart bottle broken lay where the pad from his wooden leg had been pulled off. The bottle smells of alcohol. His hat was dark brown; looks to be about 5 feet 6 inches in height. The sound leg was not touched. Pieces of flesh and blood are on the crossing. One arm could not be found.

A superficial examination threw no light on the identity of the victim, who is apparently 24 years of age. He has but one leg and some of the railroaders who saw the remains incline to believe they are those of a "hobo" who had a leg cut off by the cars about a year ago on the C. and M.

It is not known when or how he came to meet his death, as nine freight trains had passed the spot in close succession shortly before the discovery was made. From the place where the body was found it is judged that he was attempting to board a train. The authorities were notified.

THE arrest of Senator Quay on the charge of conspiring with others to wreck a Philadelphia bank was received with surprise, but the comments of the newspapers are very moderate. Even the better class of democratic papers concede that since a criminal information has been made the proper place for the trial is a court room, not the columns of the newspapers. Senator Quay is not on the republican state ticket, and the allegations against him will doubtless be disproven long before the legislature meets in joint session to elect a United States senator.

Saved from the Surgeon's Knife

No organs are of greater importance to the human body than the Kidneys. Their duty is to sift and strain the poisonous and waste matter from the blood, and if they fail to do this, the trouble shows in the nervous system, and even in the brain. Your life is at stake when there are pains in the small of your back—when you are compelled to get up at night to urinate—when the passing of water causes scalding pain—when there is a sediment in the urine in the vessel, or when it appears white or milky. When so afflicted, you can conquer the trouble with Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the greatest medicine that civilization has ever known for curing Kidney, Bladder, Blood and Liver Diseases.

James Lettice, of Canajoharie, N. Y., tells of his wonderful cure: "Some years ago I was attacked with pains in my back and sides that were fearful. I could not control my kidneys, and what came from me was filled with mucus and blood. An Albany doctor was to perform an operation upon me, and said my home doctor could take care of me after. I saw an advertisement of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which seemed to fit my case, so I decided to try that before I submitted to the operation. I began its use. When I had taken about two bottles the flow from the bladder grew cleaner, and the pain stopped, and in a short time I was saved from the surgeon's knife, and am now well."

Favorite Remedy also cures Eczema, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Constipation. For Female Troubles it is unequaled. It is sold for $1.00 a bottle at all drug stores.

Sample Bottle Free! In order that sufferers may be convinced of the curative virtues of Favorite Remedy, a free sample bottle will be sent, prepaid, to those who send their full postoffice address to the DR. INDIAN UPRISNG.

Bad ondition of Affairs in Northern Minnesota.

MANY REGULARS REPORTED KILLED

Reinforcements Have Been Ordered Up and All Indications Point to a Very Critical Condition of Affairs.

A GENERAL UPRISING IS FEARED

ST. PAUL, Minn., October 6.—A late report has reached here that General Bacon and his 100 United States regulars have been massacred by the Pillager Indians at Leech lake. A terrific battle was fought yesterday morning, near Walker, Minn., between troops and the Indians. Bacon's men were caught in ambush and three dropped before they could get to cover. The Krag-Jorgensens opened up with a frightful rattle just as the Pillagers made a terrific rush. Half a dozen of them dropped and the rest fell back, yelling like fiends incarnate.

There must have been 150 or 200 Indians. Lieutenant Morrison, with a squad of twenty men made a rush.

The tug Flora, with reinforcements for Marshal O'Connor and his deputies, was fired on.

Late news is meagre, but all that comes says the situation is very grave, Special trains bearing arms and ammunition have been sent out.

WASHINGTON, October 6.—Official dispatches received here last night brought to the authorities the sudden realization of an Indian uprising of more than ordinary dimensions. Inspector Tucker wired:

"The Indians twenty-five miles from here on the mainland of North Bear Island opened fire on the troops under General Bacon without warning. I fear the army in the field is not strong enough to subdue the Bear Island Indians. How many are hurt on their side cannot now tell. A large force should be sent here at once. It is now war and the government must protect the people."

Another dispatch followed soon after as follows; "Trouble was caused by Indians firing upon troops first; situation as bad as can be, feeling among Indians hostile and mean to fight to the end. More troops are needed at once. They cannot get here to quick."

Immediately on receipt of these dispatches Secretary Bliss went to the residence of Secretary Alger and had a talk with the head of the war department as to the military steps which should be taken. Secretary Alger said: "Take those dispatches to Adjutant General Corbin and tell him to have ample reinforcements sent forward without delay. If it seems to be desirable to send along a Gatling gun, let that be done also."

Major Hopkins went to the war department and delivered the message to the adjutant general. The latter in the meantime had received from the attorney general a dispatch received from the United States marshal, as follows:

WALKER, October 6.—To the attorney general: Have more troops sent here immediately. Battle begun at Bear Island. Look for general uprising of Indians. General Bacon in the field.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., October 6.—A telegram received last night from Walker, Minn., says a fierce fight between the Indians and the troops is still in progress. Marshal O'Connor reports several fatalities among the soldiers, but does not give the number.

A special train is coming from Brainerd with a hundred armed citizens.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Desperate fighting between the United States troops and the Indians around Leech Lake continued throughout yesterday, and the situation is very grave. The latest reports are that both sides are being reinforced and a general Indian uprising is feared. General Bacon and his men are thought to be intrenched far inland and in a safe position so long as their ammunition holds out.

In Wednesday night's fighting Major Wilkinson, one sergeant and four privates are known to have been killed, a deputy wounded and an Indian policeman killed. Another report says thirty Indians were killed. The exact number of killed is not obtainable on account of the remoteness of the locality. The bravery of the soldiers has been magnificent, while those who are going to their aid are so crazed with rage that fearfull slaughter is bound to follow another engagement with the redskins. One dispatch declares that the biggest battle is yet to be fought.

The tug Chief with 100 mon and a Gatling gun left Walker for the front late yesterday afternoon. The Indians at Leech Lake are being reinforced by Cass and Red Lake Indians.

A late afternoon dispatch from Walker says a boat just from the scene of action reports that fighting is still in progress.

It is impossible to bring the wounded to town for the Indians kept up a constant fire on the boat. A special train with 200 additional soldiers will arrive at 2 p. m., when they will be transferred as soon as possible. Capt. Sheehan, head deputy United States marshal, arrived on the boat with a flesh wound in the abdomen and one in the right arm.

He says the pillagers do not number more than 100, that they fight like fiends. Unless overpowered by superior numbers not one of them will quit fighting while he lives. They are holding out now with the hope that the Cass Lake Indians will soon arrive to their assistance. If they should arrive before our troops are reinforced the soldiers will have a desperate time of it. After the reinforcements get to Walker it will take two hours to embark them and two hours more for them to get to Sugar Point. Therefore, the best that can be expected is that they will not be able to render much assistance, except as to the force of numbers, until daylight Friday.

The newspaper correspondents reported killed are all right. Major Wilkinson was shot and killed while walking up and down admolishing the men to keep their heads low. He was shot through the leg and he had his leg dressed, took the field again and shortly afterward was shot through the body, lying in a pool of blood. He raised himself to one elbow and shouted to General Bacon: 'Give them hell, General; never mind about me." These were his last words. When the fight started Wednesday, he shouted:

"Steady, now, make every shot count. Kill everything you see."

No braver man or better officer ever lived. The men of his command are crazed with rage. When reinforcements arrive they will wreck vengeance on the pillagers in their own way. The squaws are more to be dreaded than the bucks.

Lieutenant Morrison has won his spurs. "Aim straight," he shouted. "Don't get rattled, boys. Those devils can't get us. Try again," he said, laughingly as a ball touched his hat and knocked it off. The men cheered him in the thick of it.

Corporal Nettlekoven, the sharpshooter, picked off a couple of Indians Wednesday night at a range of 2,000 yards.

Port Grape Wine Producer in America.

The first native wine sold and used in San Francisco and Sacramento was from Speer's Passaic, N. J., vineyards, was shipped around Cape Horn before there was any railroad to California, and are now being used by physicians and first families there as the richest and best wine to be had

The juice of the Portugal Port Wine grape grown in N. J. is thick and rich same as the juice of pears and other fruits grown here. From California pears you can squeeze water as from a sponge; so with all fruits grown in California; while those grown in New Jersey are solid in substance—less juice but thick and richer. The New Jersey apples, for instance, make a cider that was always popular the world over. If you want a wine for sickness or for entertainments don't take cheap, watery wines but choose a first class old, full bodied, high grade wine from Speer's Passaic vineyards. Sold by Druggists.

Cold Winter Predictions.

A cold winter, with lots of snow and rain, is predicted by Prognosticator Cuthberston, of Buffalo. His opinion is based on the fact that the year so far shows an excess of heat and it is the most natural thing the world to suppose that one extreme will follow another. August last goes as the continuously warm and sultry month of its kind, breaking all records not for excessive heat, but uniformity.

A CONTEST TO DEFEAT THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

In closing an address to the people of Pennsylvania, Chairman Elkin, gives utterance to the following eloquent and patriotic sentiment which every true Republican should heed and act upon at the coming election:

"It might as well be understood now that this is a contest to defeat Republican supremacy in Pennsylvania. The organization is prepared to defend the party from all these reckless and malicious attacks. It is our purpose to labor for the success of the whole Republican ticket, county as well as state. It is our desire to uphold the administration of President McKinley, and we feel the necessity of returning the greatest possible number of Republican congressmen for this state. It is also important that a Republican United States senator should be returned from Pennsylvania. With a new governmental policy growing out of the issues of the war we should see to it that Pennsylvania is represented by straightout Republicans in both houses of congress.

"In conclusion I desire to say that I shall not enter into any competition with Mr. Wanamaker in defaming the state of which I am proud to be a citizen, besmirching the good name of its people in the eyes of the country. I prefer rather to exalt and glorify it within all proper bounds of language. God has blessed its hills and valleys with matchless resources, above and under ground, far beyond Golconda and the Klondike, and the genius and industry of its people have developed it into an imperial domain. I prefer to look at it with eyes unjaundiced by any disappointed ambition, and to think of it as it is, the home of education and integrity, morality and religion, rather than to proclaim it as a breeding ground of iniquity, whose people choose habitual criminals as their representatives to enact their laws and administer their public affairs."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 10th 1898.

Secretary Long poohpoohs the story that the battleships Oregon and Iowa are being held at New York until it is known whether the Spanish Peace Commissioners will refuse to accept our terms of Peace, in order that they may, in that event, be available to accompany a fleet to the Coast of Spain, to do some more fighting, and says that the battleships will start during the present week for Honolulu, just as they were ordered to do as soon as they could get ready. As a matter of fact, no member of the administration has the slightest doubt as to the acceptance of our terms and the negotiating of a treaty of Peace by the Peace commission, now sitting at Paris, although they expect the Spanish commissioners to splutter and delay doing so as long as they consider it safe to do so. The Spanish commissioners are not fools; they can see the inevitable as well as all the rest of the world can. The whipped nation always has to bow before the conquering nation.

A number of Washington labor organizations are openly repudiating the attempt of certain labor organizations, controlled by democrats, to make it appear, through misleading publications, that the organized labor of Washington is opposed to the re-election to Congress of Representative Babcock, of Wisc. Among the latest to act was the Eccentric Engineers. The resolution adopted by this association arranged the attack upon Mr. Babcock as mean and contemptible and said that it should be denounced by all labor organizations which believed in justice. It closed as follows: "We have always found in the Hon. Joseph W. Babcock of Wisc., a friend ever ready and willing to advance every matter presented by the representatives of this organization, for the best interest of all classes." It is Mr. Babcock,s great success as Chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee that has aroused the democrats into making extraordinary efforts to prevent his election, He says he is absolutely certain of re-election, and he never makes predictions on guess work.

It is semi-officially announced that the Executive order exempting several thousand Federal positions, which were placed under the civil service rules by Mr. Cleveland, for no better reason than to keep democrats in office; will not be issued, until after the Congressional election. The war prevented the issuing of this order several months ago, and President McKinley is averse to issuing it now, because he knows that the democrats would charge him with doing so for effect on the Congressional campaign, if he did.

The arrangements for President and Mrs. McKinley's trip to the Omaha Exposition was sadly interfered with by the killing of Mrs. Mc Kinley's brother, at Canton, Ohio. The President and rs. McKinley left Washington Saturday night to attend the funeral, after which the President will join the party and proceed to Omaha, in accordance with the original program. It is probable that Mrs. McKinley will remain at Canton, although she may decide to accompany the President.

Before leaving Washington, President McKinley signed an order authorizing the free admission to all Cuban ports, in possession of the U. S. of oxen for work purposes, animals for breeding and for food supplies, plows and all agricultnral implements, except machinery. This order, as yet, applies to only a few ports, but it will apply to all Cuban ports very shortly, as the Spaniards are not to be hurried out of Havana and the other ports they still control. The order is intended to help the Cubans by an immediate resumtion of agriculture.

Advices received by the war department says that the Indian uprising in Minnesota is under control and that no further trouble is anticipated.

Instead of being humiliated by the testimony given before the war investigation commission, as his enemies hoped he would be, Secretary Alger has every reason to feel proud of what the witnesses, including such men as Gens. Joseph Wheeler Fitzhugh Lee, E. V. Boynton, and F. V. Greene have said of the management of the war department. The war veterans on the commission have been greatly surprised to learn that in many cases published in the yellow fournals, as inflicting great suffering and hardships on the troops, the soldiers had more of almost everything than their own men had at numerous times during the civil war. Not a single witness has even implied either neglect or guilt on the part of any official of the war department. General Francis V. Greene, who participated in the Manila campaign, the principal trouble in looking after the troops during the war was that the army regulations fitted for a time of peace was inadequate to meet the sudden exigencies of war, and he said in his testimony: "The only suggestion that I would make is that the army regulations, which are now based on departments and posts be adapted more for troops in active campaign. These regulations are framed for a state of peace; they do not fit the needs of war."

Mr. William Valence, of 226 High street, night watchman, says: "For over two years or more, off and on, I had been troubled with my back and from pains in the upper part of my spine, accompanied by a disagreeable feeling in my head and acute lameness right over my kidneys. At first I thought it was my liver, but later found it arose from the kidneys not acting properly. I read of the many cures that had been made here at home by Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got them at F. Potts Green's drug store. They stopped the annoyance from the kidneys and removed the lameness and aching in my back. They did me any amount of good and I do not hesitate to recommend them for I have been feeling well ever since."

A Quarreling Among Democrats.

When Democratic Editors get to quarreling among themselves, Republicans can set back and laugh. We have seen people called down before, but the calling down the Philadelphia Times gave Brother Kurtz of the Democrat is a dandy and no mistake. We think Brother Kurtz had better crawl in a hole and pull the hole in after him, and next time, he makes charges against Senator Quay and the Philadelphia Times he had better investigate them a little more carefully.

The article in the Times is headed "A Unique Idiot" and is as follows:

The Editor of the Centre Democrat, published at Bellefonte, Pa., seems to be the most picturesque political idiot of modern times. It should be known that his name is Charles R. Kurtz, and that his telephone call is 1,183.

While the regulation Republican organs are bitterly denouncing The Times as supporting Dr. Swallow to give deceitful aid to the election of Mr. Jenks, the regulation Democratic organs insist with equal vehemence that this journal is supporting Dr. Swallow for no other purpose than to give clandestine aid to the election of Colonel Stone. It is only natural that the old-time organs should play such crinkly-crazy pranks, but most of them have too much sense to avoid any attempt to give reasons for their accusations.

The Centre Democrat, however, has got down to bed-rock of the reasons why this journal is surreptitiously trying to elect Colonel Stone Governor and return Quay to the Senate. It says:

It is declared that Quay's influence put a stop to the legal proceedings by which Alec McClure's Times was convicted of libeling an ex-Mayor of that city, and was fined something like $45,000, which to this day has not been paid. By some peculiar hocus-pocus, the public knows not why, these proceedings have died. It is common rumor that Quay interfered, urged the courts to ease up on this paper, and thus The Times and McClure were saved from paying it. That is the explanation frequently made, and commonly accepted.

There isn't a printer's devil of average intelligence in the State who doesn't know that neither Mr. McClure nor The Times was ever convicted of libel, and that they were never fined $45,000 or any other sum in a court of justice; and if the editor of the Centre Democrat had questioned his office boy on the subject he might have been saved from impaling himself as a blathering idiot.

If the same editor read his own paper and cultivated anything approaching an honest memory, he must know that the only case relating to this journal in which the sum of $45,000 figured even in the mistiest sort of distance, was tried before Judge Gordon, who for years past has been the vindictive political enemy of Senator Quay and traded his democratic contingent of this city to Combine Leader Martin to save him in his many conflicts with the anti-Combine Quay people. When and how did Quay "hocus-pocus" Gordon?

If the same editor has any knowledge of current politics in the State he must know that Judge Gordon accuses Quay of having secretly controlled the Guffey-Garman combination to defeat Gordon for Governor, and that Gordon is today one of the important factors in the prosecution of Quay and his associates. Perhaps the editor doesn't know these facts, but if so it must be because he is such a unique idiot that facts carrom on the cushion of the thing he calls his mind.

It would be expecting too much of the editor of the Centre Democrat to hold him responsible for being entirely oblivious of one of the most important decisions of the Supreme Court relating to journalism given recently in this State. It was the decision in the case of Smith vs. The Times that had been tried before Judge Gordon and a new trial refused. There were just seven of the seven Supreme Judges who reversed the decision of the Court, and it required four different opinions from the seven Judges to get within reach of the many errors visible in the case.

That is the only "peculiar hocus-pocus" there has been about the $45,000 case referred to, and every citizen of the State of even moderate intelligence knows it; but as the editor of the Centre Democrat can't be classed in the list of citizens of ordinary intelligence, but goes in a gang by himself as the most unique of political idiots, he can't be blamed for not knowing how jangled his bungled falsehoods must sound to the average fair-play newspaper reader. "Just tell them that you saw me."

The Accident Monday Night.

The accident which occurred Monday night, near the R.R. crossing at the foot of Lamb street, was an accident that might possibly have been avoided if the proper precautions had been taken. This is one of the darkest points of the town. The train from Tyrone, which reaches here at 8:33, was leaving the Bellefonte station, tank foremost, without any light or signal, so that the engineer could see a rod ahead of him on the track. When the train passed the crossing not even was the bell rang to warn a pedestrian of approaching danger. The night was dark and at this particular point as dark as a pocket. The Railroad company should have a light at this place; also, if they are going to pull out from here with the locomotive tank foremost, they should have a headlight on the tank to throw a light ahead on the track so that obstacles could be seen by the engineer and human life not put in danger by neglect of the most ordinary precautions.

It is true that it is said that the lady killed intended to suicide; but even if this is so, as we say above, if the necessary precautions had been taken, it might possibly have been avoided. It is a straight piece of track and a light on the tank would have revealed to the engineer the woman on the rails long before he reached the spot and could have stopped, if he was pulling out at the ordinary rate of speed.

Within the last twenty years a number of people have been killed at this crossing, and innumerable very narrow escapes. In fact, not only should great care be exercised by the company in the way of lights, signals, etc., but a watchman should be kept constantly at this place. The safety of the people and the company's patrons demand that there should be more care taken in running trains in and out of the Bellefonte station.

Roosevelt's Residence.

The Democratic camp in New York is raising a terrible hullabaloo. Every Democrat, big or little, is bothering himself with the question of the residence of Colonel Roosevelt.

Does he live officially in New York city or in Oyster Bay, Long Island? Or does he hail from the heights of San Juan?

Fortunately, the controversy has not long to run. Every one of them will know on the 1st of January next where his residence is. It will be in Albany.

No Change Will be Made.

Washington, October 7.—Secretary Long has decided to make no change in the post graduate course in naval architecture established last year at the Naval Academy, and Naval Constructor J. H. Linnard, now on duty at Cramp's ship yard, Philadelphia, has been ordered to Annapolis to take charge of the class during the present term.

James M. Clemmer who killed the wife of Charles O. Kaiser, in accordance with an agreement entered into between the two men, was Tuesday sentenced to death. It is to be hoped no board of pardons will interfere to prevent the execution of this sentence. Clemmer is a villain of the first water, as his cowardly crime attests, and the earth will be a cleaner place when he vanishes from the sight of men.

HAVANA LIVE NEWS NOTES

A United States Postal Agent Arrives In That City.

HE TELLS OF THE CONDITIONS

The Depreciation of Silver the Cause of a Threat to Strike Among Cabmen Results in Their Getting Better Wages.

SPANISH EMPLOYES TO BE PAID

Havana, October 11.—Louis Kompner, United States postal agent at Santiago, arrived here yesterday on his way to Washington, where he has been called on matters relating to the postal service. He reports that the concentration of Spanish troops at Cienfuegos is being actively pushed, about 1,500 men being brought there weekly from the ports between Manzanillo and Cienfuegos, on the south coast. Mr. Kompner has visited the Spanish post offices at Manzanillo, Tunas, Jucaro and Cienfuegos and will make a report upon their condition, suggesting radical improvements in the postal system of the island. He will leave for the United States on Wednesday, proceeding to Tampa after visiting the post office here, regarding which he will make an elaborate report.

A meeting of great importance, it is said, will be held in a few days at some point in this province of all the commanding officers in the Cuban army. General Maximo Gomez will preside. The proceedings will have significance as deciding the future policy of the Cuban army in the islaad.

The Western railway of Havana has made a reduction of fifty per cent. in their charge for transporting the Cuban troops.

Advices from Cardenas received Sunday report the arrival there of Colonel Rowan and Lieutenant Parker, en route from Santiago and who have been visiting the Cuban camps on the way under a special commission from the United States government. Yesterday they were to visit Brigadier General Carlos Rajas at Camp Varadore, leaving for Matanzas by rail in the course of the afternoon.

The Spanish Military club of Havana held a meeting Sunday and resolved to dissolve. The club's furniture will be sold, one-third of the proceeds going to the Casa de Beneficencia, the public orphan asylum of Havana, and the other two-thirds to the asylum for the orphans of the soldiers of Spain.

Sunday night, shortly before midnight, representatives of the local cab companies and livery stables assembled at the office of the civil governor, Senor Castro, where they had been summoned with a view of heading off a strike threatened for to-day. Senor de Castro addressed them collectively and individually, and after a long discussion he succeeded in persuading them to abandon the proposed strike.

Yesterday morning the delegates called upon the mayor, who subsequently had a long conference with Senor de Castro. The situation was created by the claims of the cab companies for higher fares in view of the depreciation of silver. Their demands seem well founded and it is now likely that the mayor will himself authorize the desired increase, although he repudiated it a week ago when it was granted by Senor de Castro.

The Spanish paymaster general has published a notice to persons in the naval, military and civil service announcing that beginning to-day monthly payments will be re-established, but there will still be four months arrears due.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich pure blood, has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impuny. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, healthy flesh and puts the whole body in o a disease-resisting state.

Dida't Think She Was So Old.

"Ah, yes," said Mrs, Hambus, "war is dreadful. How well I remember the gloomy days we had whenever our brave soldiers lost a battle during the rebellion. Why, it was as if every family had been personally afflicted."

"I'm surprised to hear you say that," exclaimed Willie Wimbledon "I didn't suppose you were old enough to remember anything about the civil war."

PERSPECTIVE.

RESIDENCE FOR GOV. DANIEL H. HASTINGS.
BELLEFONTE, PA.
T. P. RETTMEYER, ARCHITECT.
MASONIC TEMPLE, WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Bellefonte is famous for its imposing business blocks and beautiful homes. There is no town of its size in the state that can equal it in this respect. At present much interest is centered upon the improvements now in progress on the property of Gov. D. H. Hastings, on Allegheny street. A strong force of mechanics are at work and have stripped the former residence of almost everything, and the excavations and foundations being laid indicate that an elaborate structure will be erected there.

The front of the building will be 120 feet. The exterior is a severe type of old colonial architecture. The walls will be of brick with brown stone trimmings for the base, and white marble superstructure. The roof will be of green slate. The interior will be finished in polished hard woods, with wood parquette floors. Plate glass windows throughout and the best sanitary plumbing will be introduced.

This building has one of the finest locations in the town. It stands in the centre of large plot and on an elevation from the street, with a beautiful shaded and terraced lawn surrounding it. The large massive stone wall and steps add to the general appearance and when completed will be one of the finest homes in this part of the state.

Gov. Hastings evidently expects to return to Bellefonte, at the expiration of his term in January, and then his new home will be completed when everything will be comfortable, convenient and inviting.

A Murder in Deleware.

Dover, Del., October, 12.—Zachariah Gibbs, colored, aged 22 yesterday shot and killed Howard Harper, also colored, aged 23 in Gibbs' house. Harper went to Gibbs' house between 2 and 3 o'clock in an intoxicated condition.

He was admitted by Nellie Palmer, with whom he had kept company. As soon as Harper entered he began to talk in a loud tone to the girl. Gibbs, who was in bed upstairs, remonstrated with Harper telling him to keep quiet. Harper refused and Gibbs, going downstairs ordered Harper and the girl to leave the house. Harper began to abuse Gibbs and advanced towards him with a club. Gibbs warded off several blows, but finally Harper cornered him and Gibbs fearing that it meant death to him, fired at Harper, the ball entering just over the heart. After Harper fell Gibbs fired again, the bullet entering the back of the head. Harper died ten minutes later without speaking a word.

Gibbs remained in the house until 6 o'clock, when he walked around to the jail and gave himself up. The colored citizens are greatly excited over the shooting.

Senator Quay in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, October 11.—Senator Quay arrived in this city last night from Washington and went direct to the Hotel Walton where he received during the evening a number of local political leaders and a few personal friends. Richard R. Quay, the senator's son, was in town a few hours during the afternoon and left for Atlantic City. Neither Senator Quay nor his son would discuss the charges of conspiracy preferred against them and ex-State Treasurer Haywood, and Charles H. McKee, of Pittsburg. During the day it was reported that Mr. Haywood had reached this city from Omaha. District Attorney Graham, however, said he had received a dispatch from Mr. Haywood dated Chicago, which announced that the ex-state treasurer would arrive here to-day. Mr. Graham declined to discuss the conspiracy charges other than to say that Mr. Haywood will be given a hearing on Wednesday and that he will produce sufficient evidence to make out a prima facie case against the former treasurer.

THE ATTACK ON SENATOR QUAY.

Generally Regarded as a Political Campaign Move and That It Falls of Its Purpose.

An index of the sentiment of the Republican voters of Pennsylvania on the latest move against Senator Quay by his political opponents is given in the free expressions of editors of representative Republican newspapers of the state.

Here is what a few of them say:

The move has all the ear marks of a last card play by Senator Quay's enemies, as it will in all probability be shown to be when the facts are brought out.—Meadville Tribune.

It is a trick that has been played time and time again, and instead of having any effect upon the voters, it generally acts, as Senator Magee remarks, as a boomerang.—Wilkesbarre Times.

Senator Quay is anxious to face his accusers in court and failure on their part to meet him there will be accepted as a confession of the weakness of their charges and the insincerity of their motives.—Towanda Journal.

Senator Quay will not allow the case to rest unpushed and the charges uninvestigated. And whatever comes of it will be pretty likely to redound to his own side and make his position with the people more impregnable than ever.—Reading Review.

One fact appears plain, and that is that no loss occurred to the bank on account of the loans made to the Quays. It is asserted, and the evidence bears out the statement, that all the loans made were duly secured by collateral.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Until he and his fellow defendants have had an opportunity to reply to the charge against them and to refute the evidence offered by the prosecution, those who want to be fair will avoid jumping at the conclusion that the preliminary testimony is unanswerable.—Altoona Evening Gazette.

The animus of the whole proceeding is clearly political in its nature. Upon its face it is an attempt to make political capital by the enemies of the Republican party, in the hope of injuring the political fortunes of Senator Quay and bringing about the defeat of the Republican ticket. It will accomplish neither of these results.—Titusville Herald.

Senator Quay's enemies are proving their desperation by resorting to his arrest on a trumped up charge of conspiracy. No man of sound sense believes the allegation. It is a political move on the part of the senator's enemies, and is a part of the conspiracy entered into to bring about his political downfall, but it is too thinly veiled to be effective.—Shamokin Herald.

To hound parties in such a manner merely from the fact that they are distinguished in public affairs and at the head of a great faction of a political party is deplorable and unwise and fails of its object. Even the sentiment of the anti-Quayites would not be in sympathy of such a movement even though some of their leaders were pushing the suits.—Ephrata News.

This year the honest people of the state are fully alive to the situation. They will vote for William A. Stone, who has been abused and vilified without stint by the men who pose as honest men, and whose records are not without stain. Republicans, take no stock in these I-am-holier-than-thou people. They are not sincere.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The arrest of Senator Quay, his son Richard Quay and ex-State Treasurer Benjamin Haywood on a charge of conspiring with John S. Hopkins, deceased, late cashier of the now defunct People's bank, of Philadelphia, to use public money of Pennsylvania, looks to most people like a bungling piece of political work that will prove a boomerang to the people who planned it.—Ebensburg Herald.

The people of Pennsylvania are, above all things else, fair and just, and they can be trusted to see through the sinister motives animating the small coterie of disgruntled, defeated politicians who are responsible for this sensational resort to the courts. In due time there will be a complete exposition of the true inwardness of this latest act in the drama of character assassination.—Tionesta Republican.

But should this prosecution turn out to be a part of a general conspiracy to blacken Senator Quay's character for political buncombe, then those who are pursuing him with such spiteful malignancy, and who are resorting to such contemptible methods to accomplish their purposes, should bear the odium which belongs to such conduct. If there is anything worse than a disregard of the laws of the land, it is an attempt to use those laws for ignoble purposes, such as private revenge or political buncombe. — Punxsutawney Spirit.

There is a purpose for this, of course, which is neither to seek the ends of justice nor restore to the public anything that has been lost. We do not say this because of any disposition to defend Senator Quay or any other politician in wrong doing, but because the motive is always apparent when a charge against a man in office is kept on the shelf until such time as it is believed to be of political service to opposing parties. If a wrong has been committed it should be brought to light at once by parties having knowledge of it.—Dubois Courier.

It is evident that the institution of the suit against Senator Quay and others was actuated by political motives, rather than through an honest desire to protect the interests of the commonwealth. The evidence on this point is too clear for reasonable doubt. If there were no evidence of this the fact that the institution of the suit was postponed until a month before the election, when the books and papers on which it is based were accessible to the parties instituting the proceedings months before, more than justifies this inference.—Lancaster New Era.

REGARDING THE FIFTH

All Signs Point to the Mustering Out of the Regiment.

REGULAR ARMY OFFICER COMING

Physical Examination of the Members of the Command to Be Made Preparatory to the Final Release from Service.

NO PART LIKELY TO BE RETAINED

The problem as to the final muster out of the Fifth regiment appeared to be fairly solved yesterday when Major Thompson of the Fourth regular cavalry the Pennsylvania mustering officer, telegraphed Colonel Theodore Burchfield that the regiment would be mustered out on the 25th inst. His statement was based on the knowledge that ten days would be required to complete the physical examination of the men of the regiment previous to the muster.

The Johnstown Tribune and yesterday's Gazette misquoted Adjutant J. S. Fair, and gave the impression that a portion of the regiment at least was to be retained in service. The only foundation for this theory is a recent telegram from the war department authorizing the discharge of twelve married men of company H, who applied for discharges. Adjutant Fair is indignant at the wilful mis-quotation of an order he telephoned to the company commander at Johnstown.

There appears to be but little doubt but that the Fifth will finally be mustered out of the United States service. Yesterday's telegram from the mustering officer, Major Thompson, indicates that the war department has no idea of retaining the regiment in service. The powerful influence of Abner McKinley, of Somerset, brother of the president, who is especially in the mustering out of company I, will, no doubt, prove sufficient to have the Fifth mustered out as a whole. The report that a portion of the regiment will be retained in the service is absurd to say the least.

The extension of ten days to the regimental furlough is due to the fact that a thorough physical examination of the members of the Fifth will be made by contract surgeons, before discharge papers are issued. This final examination will be more rigid than the preliminary examination and will be recorded in the archives of the war department. All future applications for pensions made by members of the Fifth regiment will be governed by the results of this final physical examination.

A Lost Boy.

Thursday's Tyrone Herald contains the following:

A boy 12 years of age, giving his name as Charley Vincent, came to the home of Archie Hutchinson on Friday evening, September 16, asking for work. He was a handsome, manly, intelligent child, well dressed and bore every appearance of coming of good people and being carefully and well raised. He said his father and mother were both dead, his father dying in February last and his mother the following June, leaving him all alone. A neighbor lady Mrs. Mary Nitzel, East Twenty-first street, Harrisburg, had taken care of him since, but he heard her speak of taking him to an orphan's home, so he ran away to hunt a home for himself. He was taken in and cared for until Sunday last when he suddenly disappeared going in the direction of Spruce Creek He wore a blue double breasted coat and trousers, tan shoes and stockings, white shirt and collar, blue and white checked cambric tie, gray cap and steel framed glasses, had light hair, blue eyes and round full face. Mr. Hutchison's family learned that he afterwards told he had run off from his uncle's home in New York and the detectives were in search of him. If this is correct and the other newspapers will kindly copy, the friends of the boy may be able to get some clue to him.

A DOUBLE SETBACK

HIS FORCES DEMORALIZED.

His Alliance With the Democracy and Prohibition Forces to Capture the Legislature Is in a Bad Way.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Oct. 4.—Two incidents of the past few days have been a source of annoyance and disappointment to the Wanamaker-Democratic-Prohibition alliance in their efforts to capture the Pennsylvania legislature in the campaign to elect the Philadelphia millionaire, or a Democrat, to the United States senate. One of Wanamaker's newspapers in the Quaker City, which, when not opposing the election of regularly nominated Republican candidates for the legislature, is booming Prohibitionist Swallow for governor, has been attempting to make capital in their Democratic-Prohibition campaign by charging that the Republican state organization is opposing the re-election of Congressman Charles W. Stone, in the Warren-Venango district.

STANDING BY HON. C. W. STONE.

This campaign invention was quickly exploded when Colonel William A. Stone, the Republican candidate for governor, and United States Senator Boies Penrose went up to Hon. C. W. Stone's district and practically opened the Republican state campaign. Both Colonel Stone and Senator Penrose addressed meetings from the same platform with Hon. C. W. Stone, and their cordial and earnest words of commendation of his public services and appeals to Republicans to rally to his support, in the fight made against him by Free Silverite Sibley, was the most complete refutation that could be given to the malicious misrepresentations of the Wanamaker organs.

The publication in the newspapers of the 30th ult. that the sum of $50,500 had been paid to State Treasurer Beacom by Receiver Barlow, of the People's bank, of Philadelphia, was coupled with the announcement from the state treasurer that with this payment the complete indebtedness due the state from insolvent banks was wiped out.

EVERY PENNY PAID THE STATE.

"I am happy to say," said Treasurer Beacom to an interviewer, "that with this check for $50,500 the state of Pennsylvania gets every penny due her from banks that have had to close their doors. The money which was deposited in the Chestnut Street bank, of which the late William M. Singerly was president, was made good some time ago."

A favorite theme for attacks on the Republican party by Wanamaker and his supporters has been "the broken banks," in which the state had deposits. The allegations on this score now fall to the ground. It is a matter of official record that since 1840 the state of Pennsylvania has not lost a dollar of the $423,000,000 handled by its state treasurers. No financial institution in this or any other county can show as good a record in the handling of such sums of money as the treasury of the state of Pennsylvania.

THE FUSION DITCH.

The Republican Party Not Going to Be Dumped Into It.

"It is conceded that the fight for the possession of the house of representatives is close and doubtful," says the Philadelphia Inquirer. "With the house Democratic the president would have only the senate to rely upon. There are 90 senators, including the one who is about to be elected in Oregon. With him the senate has 45 straight Republicans—exactly one-half. Now let the fusionists carry Pennsylvania and retire Quay, and the party strength in the senate will be 44. In other words, Pennsylvania is asked to take a hand in giving McKinley a hostile congress at a time when the greatest questions of a generation are to be met.

"And yet the fusionists would sidetrack Manila, Cuba, Porto Rico, and Wanamakerites and Democrats and Prohibitionists are openly making deals to elect a fusion legislature, and through that legislature a fusion senator. This is their one issue, and the sole one they would have the public recognize.

"Most certainly the Republican party is not going to be led into a fusion ditch and dumped there to the detriment of the administration at Washington and of the vast and progressive policies for the carrying out of which President McKinley must have the support of Republican Pennsylvania."

A POLITICAL CONSPIRACY

Combination to Elect a Democratic United States Senator From Pennsylvania.

WANAMAKER'S AMBITION.

Having Failed in His Two Campaigns For Honors From the Republican Organization the Millionaire Seeks Revenge and Aids Bryanism to Wreck the Party of McKinley.

This is a story of a base conspiracy, in which hypocrisy, vindictiveness, and ingratitude play conspicuous parts. It is a political story, showing how certain politicians, having been themselves repudiated by the people, endeavor to deceive and entrap the people, and use them in an effort to destroy those to whom they chiefly attribute their own defeat.

"Once upon a time"—it was in 1888—a great campaign was waged. The Democrats were in power, and likely to remain there. The Republican cause was almost a forlorn hope. But within the ranks of stalwart Republicanism in Pennsylvania there was a shrewd, brilliant Republican leader, and he it was who, as chairman of the Republican national committee, snatched victory from the very jaws of defeat.

This was Matthew Stanley Quay.

Among those who aided him in that great campaign was Hon. John Wanamaker—his alliance with Democracy had not then begun—the millionaire merchant of Philadelphia, who, as chairman of a sub-committee, supervised the raising of over one million dollars for Chairman Quay to spend in the work of organization.

This was before Mr. Wanamaker had commenced his crusade against "the use of money in politics!"

MR. WANAMAKER'S SUPREME AMBITION.

Mr. Wanamaker's reward was a seat in President Harrison's cabinet, which was the only recommendation made by Chairman Quay and his colleagues of the national committee to the president-elect. But that did not satisfy Mr. Wanamaker's ambition. Having devoted nearly 60 years to the humdrum of money making—and very successfully, for he is now supposed to be worth $15,000,000—he became enamored of the fascinations of life—social as well as political—at the national capital. He desired to remain their indefinitely, which he was not likely to do as a cabinet officer. He immediately began to plan for a seat in the United States senate as Senator Cameron's successor—the latter's term expiring in 1891. He first sought, by every means known to this versatile gentleman, to gain Senator Quay's approval, but the latter could not be induced to desert his colleague, who had been his close intimate friend, personal and political, for many years.

It was then that the iron entered into the soul of John Wanamaker.

HIS SECRET PLOTTING BEGINS.

He immediately began his secret plotting for the overthrow of his political creator, the establishment of a machine of his own, and the election of himself to the United States senate. But his purpose was not declared; his work was furtive and unostentatious, as the work of all conspirators is. Though still pretending to be Senator Quay's friend, he let slip no opportunity to poison the mind of President Harrison against Chairman Quay, to whose efforts his (the president's) election was mainly due.

But the inevitable result followed. Conspirators may conspire, plotters may plot, yet—well, "the best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft agley." Mr. Wanamaker's plans were knocked into a "cocked hat," and "the other fellow" went to the senate that time.

It is not often that wrong and injustice triumph in this every day world of ours.

But ambition, that insatiable monster, had laid deep hold upon its victim, and his purpose altered not. Into the dying ashes of his failure new fuel was thrust, and since then the fires have never been quenched.

Mr. Wanamaker left the cabinet in 1893, more determined than ever to reach the goal of his fondest hope—the United States senate. But he went about it in a unique way. He did not become active in the councils of the Republican party; he did not contribute toward the work of party organization and education; he did not take the stump for the party's candidates. In a word, he did nothing to earn the gratitude of Republican leaders or workers, nor did he perform any act to endear himself to the Republican masses, or even form their acquaintance.

MILLIONS ADDED TO MILLIONS.

For several years he devoted himself to his old avocation, that of money making. His vast department stores—which have pauperized and driven to the wall so many thousands of small shopkeepers, not only in Philadelphia, but the surrounding counties—expanded day by day; his magnificent mercantile palace in New York was opened; new millions were added to the millions already acquired; it was flood tide in the world of trade.

But "the other fellow" was in the United States senate, and the canker worm of deathless desire still gnawed at the heartstrings of the merchant prince. For relief he set sail for Europe, and for months at a time wandered along the banks of the picturesque Rhine, viewed the ruins which lie beside the yellow Tiber, and dallied with the delights of gay Paris, washed by the shores of the turgid Seine. This was generally during a state campaign, when every sincere, enthusiastic Republican, deeming America good enough for him at such a time, remained in the old commonwealth and gave his best efforts in behalf of party success.

But time passed; it is a way time has. Finally, 1896 came, and with it another senatorial campaign was precipitated. With the advent of summer of that year Mr. Wanamaker came home from Europe post haste. The time had come for participation in politics, for he had concluded to be a candidate for office himself. Delegates and legislators were scarce on the banks of the Rhine, the Tiber and the Seine.

THE SENATORIAL BEE BUZZES.

But he must confine himself to the limits of Pennsylvania. Chairman Hanna, of the Republican national committee, offered him his old place on the finance committee, but he declined. He had "other fish to fry." It was not the presidency which concerned him that summer. The senatorial bee buzzed about his ears, and he must needs follow that bewitching, siren like insect whithersoever it might lead, which he believed to be a great hive of luscious honey—the United States senatorship.

But he did not yet unfold his plans to the public. He made a tour of the state, ostensibly to make speeches for William McKinley, but in reality to build political fences for John Wanamaker. Though he could not go to the aid of Chairman Hanna in New York and take a laboring oar in the desperate struggle which was waged there for the overthrow of the gigantic free silver heresy, which came near fastening its hideous grip upon the nation, yet he could spend the summer and fall traveling over and speaking throughout Pennsylvania, which was sure to give McKinley a majority of a quarter of a million, even though a speech should not be made.

But it is cheaper to open one's lungs in political campaigning than one's pocketbook.

Though Mr. Wanamaker, during all this period, was making speeches ostensibly for Mr. McKinley, and had not declared himself a candidate for the senate, neither he nor his friends were by any means idle. Nearly a year before, in the fall of 1895, his henchmen began their secret work, setting up legislative candidates in Mr. Wanamaker's interest. According to a recent writer, this is the way it was done:

HIS CAMPAIGN METHOD.

"Beneath the aegis of his candidacy had gathered the disappointed ambitions of a score or more defeated aspirants for office, so-called 'reformers,' of every shade and condition, and a coterie of the highest paid political talent to be found in the market. * * * The work of the Business Men's League in Pennsylvania for President McKinley was made secondary, and only a cloak for a united effort to elect Mr. Wanamaker to the United States senate. Branches of the League were established in almost every county east of the Allegheny mountains, and through them a determined effort was made to set up candidates for the legislature in the several counties favorable to Mr. Wanamaker. In fact, unless a candidate so announced himself, although he may have been a Republican of known integrity, he was instantly met with opposition by the Business Men's League. Paid emissaries of this outfit under the auspices of the League, traveled throughout the four corners of the state, and, as appeared from the testimony taken in an alleged bribery case, agreed to furnish money to effect the nomination and election of candidates for the legislature, exacting written pledges that the candidates so nominated and elected would support Mr. Wanamaker in his effort to reach the United States senate."

OVER A THIRD OF A MILLION.

All this time Mr. Wanamaker was striding up and down the state, "making speeches for McKinley," so he said, making them where they were not needed, while the party's great leaders, in New York, Chicago, Washington and elsewhere, were struggling to evolve victory out of what seemed a hopeless contest. Though not proclaiming himself a senatorial candidate until after the presidential election, he was building his political fences day by day; and his lieutenants were raking the state as with a finetooth comb for Wanamaker legislators.

It has been ascertained from reliable sources that the hopeless contest cost over a third of a million dollars—$350,000 to be precise.

And again "the other fellow" was elected senator!

Ambition! Ambition! Thou inveterate, insatiate tyrant, let now thy victim rest in peace! But no. Still by ambition inspired, the curtain had no sooner been rung down upon the caucus tragedy—the vote was against him by the ratio of 133 to 71—than Mr. Wanamaker had registered a new vow—go to the United States senate he would, or else play the Samson role, and pull down the pillars of the Republican temple, even though the party should be smashed and crushed to atoms.

A NEW CONSPIRACY HATCHED.

It was then the new conspiracy was hatched. Having failed to secure an entrance into the United States senate through Republican channels, the next effort should be made outside of party lines. The initial step lay in the direction of creating discord and dissension in Republican circles, and in bringing odium, not only upon the leaders, but upon the rank and file of the party. A select coterie of skilful politicians and expert newspaper men was to be kept in Harrisburg throughout the session, whose duties were to assail every act of the legislature, misrepresent the doings and purposes of the Republican legislators and party leaders, and sow in the popular mind, throughout the state, seeds of discontent. As the result of such a program, a cry of "reform" was to be raised, and an effort made to elect an anti-Republican legislature, the real though hidden purpose being the election of Mr. Wanamaker to the United States senate.

That was the conspiracy hatched out that night at the Commonwealth hotel, Harrisburg, when Mr. Wanamaker found himself beaten in the Republican caucus by an almost two-thirds vote. A beautiful scheme, indeed!

A CRUSADE OF MISREPRESENTATION.

And how did it develop? The program was followed to the very letter. From the opening of the legislature, in January, 1897, until its close, in July, every act or omission of the legislature was made the subject of attack, misrepresentation being the chief weapon of offense. Every feature which could possibly be assailed was distorted and twisted, and the result of such analysis spread broadcast through the columns of personal organs controlled by Mr. Wanamaker's store advertisements, or through the medium of Democratic newspapers. Insiduously the poison was spread throughout the commonwealth in the effort to deceive the people. Nor did they discontinue their work when the legislature adjourned. From that day till now they have kept up their crusade, through favored organs, by means of literature, and on the stump, not a stone being left unturned in the effort to hoodwink the people and secure the defeat of Republican legislative nominees.

But the work of the conspirators did not end here. They must have accomplices in order to make anything like a respectable showing of strength. They made some effort to secure the nomination of their henchmen at the various county primaries, but were almost uniformly defeated. They next turned to their natural allies, the Democrats. They first concluded to support the Democratic candidate for governor, provided he was a man they could deal with. They would give him their votes and influence at the polls, upon the condition that he would use his good offices in getting Democratic legislators to support Mr. Wanamaker for the senate.

CONFERENCES AT MIDNIGHT.

Mr. Wanamaker held many conferences, generally at night, at his magnificent country seat near Philadelphia, with Democratic leaders, and the details were discussed. Judge Gordon was to be their candidate for governor. But the Democratic bosses interfered with this program by nominating Mr. Jenks instead of Judge Gordon. The conspirators were not daunted, however. Some of them dickered with the Jenks Democrats; others dickered with the Swallow Prohibitionists; Mr. Wanamaker dickered with both, his country palace being the favorite meeting place, far away from the public gaze.

What has been the result of this plotting and counter plotting? In a number of counties combination legislative tickets have been nominated, the nominees being Democrats, Prohibitionists and so-called Republicans, the latter being very much in the minority. This program has been carried out in Chester, Blair, Dauphin, Huntingdon and several other counties. But in most cases no actual combination has been effected, the purpose of the conspirators being to throw the weight of their influence in behalf of the Democratic candidates for the legislature.

FOR THE OVERTHROW OF REPUBLICANISM.

And this is the situation as it stands today. In order to wreak his vengeance upon those whom he holds responsible for his repeated defeats, and in order to advance his ambitious purposes, Mr. Wanamaker has entered into a base conspiracy for the overthrow of Republicanism in Pennsylvania. Acting through his high salaried henchmen and his personal organs in Philadelphia, to each one of which he pays annually on an average forty thousand dollars ($40,000) for advertising, he is seeking to defeat regularly nominated Republican candidates for the legislature, thus securing the election of the Democratic nominees. He personally is traversing the state, speaking in behalf of his infamous program wherever a crowd of people can be induced to gather to listen to his tirade.

This is the man as he is, stripped of his false mantle of reform and honesty of purpose. The mask is off, and we discover, not a high minded statesman or genuine reformer, but one who, having met defeat in the arena of practical politics, now, in furtherance of his unquenchable ambition and his desire for personal vengeance, envelops himself in the livery of political purity and stalks before the people proclaiming: "It is I, the only Simon pure political Moses, who will lead you out of the wilderness!"

All those Republicans of Pennsylvania who believe in fair dealing, who object to being hoodwinked, who despise hypocrisy, who adhere to the right, are cautioned against listening to the specious arguments and misrepresentations of Mr. Wanamaker and his satellites. By voting for the Republican nominees for the legislature, put the seal of your disapproval upon the base political conspiracy which seeks to throw the old Republican commonwealth of Pennsylvania into the hands of Democrats, Prohibitionists and mongrel Republicans.

PHARISEES IN POLITICS.

A Frank Opinion of the Wanamaker Outfit.

Colonel John Hay, of the Carlisle Daily Herald, has sized up the Wanamaker outfit and does not hesitate to express his opinions on the subject.

"We have cared for Mr. Quay so little," he remarked in a recent editorial, "that we have not spoken to him for nearly 20 years, and we have fearlessly, in times past, made rather uncomplimentary remarks about him; but he is an able man, and what is more a thorough Republican, who has done an immense amount of work for the party, not only in Pennsylvania, but throughout the United States. But we get tired when Mr. Wanamaker, Dr. Swallow, the Business Men's association and the rest of the Pharisees thank God that they are not as other men are, when they are worse than publicans and sinners. They profess to know better and act worse.

"The Pharisees were exposed and condemned nearly two thousand years ago, but the woods are full of them yet."

La Fayette Memorial Day.

September 29, 1898.

To the Superintendent of Public Instruction:

It has been proposed to signalize the participation of the United States in the Paris Exposition in 1900, by the erection in Paris in the name of the youth of the United States of a monument to General La Fayette, the same to be unveiled and dedicated on the United States Day, July 4, 1900. The project has the approval of the President of the United States who says that 'The idea that the students in schools, colleges and universities shall take a prominent part in this tribute will not only be of vast educational value, but will keep prominent before them the inspiration of a high ideal, the devotion to great principles, and the public recognition paid to lofty purposes."

It is proposed throughout the United States to designate October 19, 1898, as La Fayette Day in the schools of each State, when a portion of the day may be devoted to exercises connected with the story of our struggle for liberty and the important part taken therein by La Fayette and at the same time give the youth of the country an opportunity to participate in the fund for the La Fayette testimonial. I will be pleased if you will communicate these suggestions to the teachers of the schools of the Commonwealth.

Very respectfully,

DANIEL H. HASTINGS.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The Ballot this Fall.

Considerable talk is indulged in by voters concerning the arrangement of the ballot this year. It is safe to say for the information of all that it is not likely to be as large this year as it was two years ago, when it contained thirteen columns. This year there will be nine or ten. Just exactly which it is hard to say. This arrangement will be very nearly in the following order beginning at the right:

Republican, democrat, prohibition, people's liberty, honest government, citizen's and a blank column in which any names may be written of persons for whom the voter desires to vote who have not been formally nominated.

LETTER FROM PORTO RICO

Interesting Account of the Trip Across the Island.

CAUGHT IN A RAIN STORM

A GREAT DEAL OF SICKNESS THERE

RIO PIEDRAS, PORTO RICO,
SEPTEMBER 28, 1898.
HEADQUARTERS 1ST ARMY CORPS,
GEN. BROOKE, COM.

DEAR FRIEND TUTEN:—I will endeavor to write you a few lines and tell you of our journey across the Cayey mountains from Guayama to this city Rio Piedras.

On Saturday morning September 3rd at three o'clock we were awakened by the sounding of reville. We knew, (as we had orders the night before to be ready to move early next morning,) by that bugle sound, that another long days march was before us. Promptly at seven o'clock we began the journey. The beginning of the day was grand and as we traveled over the mountains, scenery too beautiful to describe was set before our eyes. We passed through the Spanish out-posts about noonday and as the sun was sinking to rest in the far west we could hear the rumbling of thunder away off in the far distance. By that sound, we were told that before long we would encounter a storm. We urged our horses on, although they had worked hard climbing the steep mountains and within a mile and a half of the beautiful city of Cayey we were overtaken by the rain and wind storm. "Goodness gracious" talk about water coming down, why it had not rained two minutes before we were drenched to our bodies, and this rain continued until day break next morning. We accepted it good naturedly and at five o'clock, after drinking a warm cup of coffee which I was lucky enough to get from a kind native,(I don't know whether the other boys had anything or not) the journey was continued, oh my how disagreeable we felt. You can imagine being wet to the skin, and having the boiling hot sun pouring down on you, although it was not long until we were perfectly dry again. We put in a good days travel that day and oh! Tuten, you ought to have seen the beautiful palm trees and fern trees we passed under that day it was something grand, something I shall never forget, and that was this trip across the Island of Porto Rico.

The evening of the second days march, brought us to the city Caguas a very large, and pretty city it is too, as the buildings are mostly two and three stories high and either built of stone or painted white. The inhabitants of this town were very kind to the soldiers and gave them a hearty welcome, for as we entered the town large groups of people stood along the road side and would yell, "vive, vive, America." The third day we continued our journey reaching the city of Rio Piedras which is two miles from the capital San Juan, and as the summer home of Captain General Macias, it is here, Gen. Brooke was invited to make his home and headquarters which he did.

The General goes daily to the Capital and there in conference with Admiral Schley, Gen. Gorden and the Spanish commission transact business together in regard to the Peace question.

Tuten a few days ago I read an excellent letter written by "Doc Underwood to his father." I would love to see the boy, but during a warfare like this we are not permitted to go away far. I am glad he was lucky enough to get the trip across here, and now since it is all over. I don't suppose he would sell his experience that he has had over here, (although he has passed through many hardships) for any amount of money, and I only hope he may retain his health to get home and tell it all to you.

As I sit here I can here the sound of a fife, playing "All Hail the power of Jesus Name" and as it draws near we can hear the sound of their instruments and now we know what the meaning is. It is only a funeral cortege of another of the brave boys that has gone home to answer to the last roll call. He has for the last time answered to his name at "reville" and "tapps." So we will lay to rest Corporal Jennings.

Well Tuten it is growing late and as this is Sunday and one of our busy days I must come to a close. Extend my kindest regards to all the people at home. Before closeing I want to tell you since coming to Porto Rico over two thousand cases of typhoid, malaria and yellow fever developed.

I cannot give the exact number of deaths but it is away up in the hundreds. Well be good to yourself. I will close remaining your old friend.

ROGER THOMAS BAYARD.

Burglary in Daylight.

Wednesday, October 5, the residence of Adam Decker, a farmer residing near Hublersburg, was burglarized. Mr. Decker and the other inmates were away from home during the afternoon. Before they left the house they locked the doors and fastened the windows. During their absence the burglar or burglars pried open the windows with a crowbar. The house was entered, all the cupboards, bureaus, etc, were ransacked and their contents thrown over the floor. The intruders were evidently after cash for they took nothing but money. They secured a small amount of money in silver which they took from Mr. Deckers pantaloons, and a check which they found in an envelope, for thirty dollars. The check had been given Mr. Decker by a Lock Haven butcher on a bank in that city. The bank was notified of the theft and payment on the same was stopped. There is no clue to the robbers.

—A very polished, sleek gentleman, calling himself Sydney Gray, arrived in Clearfield a few weeks ago and because of his fine testimonials. from Williamsport hotel men he was given a job at the Witmer Inn as clerk. He staid just long enough to borrow two mileage books from a guest of the house and he is evidently traveling yet, for they haven't heard from him since.

AN OFF YEAR.

The present year is popularly supposed to be an off year in our American politics, and yet the election of a Democratic Congress in this off year

Would neutralize the victory of 1896.

It would set the Democratic party squarely upon its feet.

It would put the Bryanistic, Socialistic and Populistic aggregation in first-class fighting trim for the battle of 1900.

It would revive the arguments for the free coinage of silver and make it a living issue in the next campaign.

It would antagonize the Administration of President McKinley and would cripple his efforts to restore our country to the position it occupied before 1893.

It would condemn the conduct of a war, which, with all the shortcomings charged against it, was one of the most brilliant in our history.

It would destroy confidence, the mainstay of our commercial prosperity.

It would check the onward march towards better times.

It would strike a blow at the business interest of the country.

It would strike a blow at the financial interests of the country.

It would cause manufacturers to retrench and prepare for the coming storm.

It would strike a blow at the protected industries of the country.

It would be a calamity from which the country would require years to recover.

These are but a tithe of the ills which would follow in the wake of the election of a Democratic congress.

Are the Republican voters of the country prepared to accept the responsibility of permitting such a contingency? A change in twenty-four congressional districts will make the lower branch of congress Democratic. The sooner the Republicans shake off the idea that this is an off year the better it will be for the party, and, what is of far greater moment, the better it will be for the country at large.

The Democratic party, true to its past record, is willing to fuse with any old party. on any old issue, if only they can blind the eyes of the voter, while they are electing their congressmen.

The DAILY NEWS has from time to time pointed out the dangers which threatened the Republican majority in congress and the evils which would follow a change of power in that body. The Congressional campaign committee has awakened to a realization of the danger. They have become aware of the apathy of the voter, and are urging upon those who would sustain the president in the great questions which are coming to the front, to put forth every effort to save congress, and thus give the president the support he will need.

We have a congressman to elect in this, the 28th congressional district, W. C. Arnold, of DuBois. and every true lover of his country in this district, and every loyal and honest Republican, will, on election day, record his vote for "God and his country" by casting his ballot for Arnold and every other man on the Republican ticket. They are all representative men and their election will be a cordial support on our part to the administration of President McKinley.

A God-sent Blessing.

Mr. B. F. Wood, of Easton, Pa., was a great sufferer from organic heart disease. He never expected to be well again, but Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart was his good angel, and he lives to-day to tell it to others, hear him: "I was for fifteen years a great sufferer from heart disease, had smothering spells, palpitation, pain in left side and swelled ankles. The Philippines are not yet Reached

Paris, October, 8.—If for no other reason than the fact that the Philippine Islands were not mentioned first in the peace protocol, it may be said with assurance that the peace commission's joint sessions have not yet touched upon the question of the Philippine Islands.

The Liberte last evening, referring to the Indian outbreak in Minnesota contrasts, editorially, the federal treatment of the redskins and the Spanish natives of the Philippines, expressing the conviction that any contrast must prove unfavorable to the federal authorities.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

George Saxton Brother-in-Law of the President.

A TRAGEDY IN CANTON, OHIO

Mrs. Anna C. George is Charged with Having Fired the Bullets Which Ended the Man's Life, Etc.

ACCUSED ANSWERS NO QUESTIONS

CANTON, O., October 8.—George Saxton, a brother of Mrs. William McKinley, was shot dead at 6.10 o'clock last evening before the residence of Mrs. Eva. B. Althouse, widow of the late George Althouse, 319 Lincoln avenue, where he is presumed to have gone to make a call. Five shots were fired, three of which entered his body and Mrs. Anna C. George has been placed under arrest on suspicion of the murder.

Saxton was unconscious when neighbors arrived to investigate the cause of the shooting, and was dead when the physicians and officers arrived, the former having expressed the opinion that death was instantaneous, three bullets having entered vital spots. His position indicated that he had been on the steps to the Althouse residence when the shots were fired. The body was taken to an undertaking room and placed in charge of the coroner. Immediately after the autopsy it will be taken to the home of M. C. Barber, a brother. in-law, where Saxton, who was unmarried, made his home.

Mr. Saxton left the Barber home about 6 o'clock riding his bicycle and this was the last seen of him by his friends. The Althouse home was dark and locked and the neighbors said Mrs. Althouse had not been at home for the past three days. One of the neighbors said a woman supposed to have done the shooting had passed back of the house. Mrs. George took her supper as usual at a down town restaurant at 4.40, and some time later was on a west bound car, and, according to motorman's story, got off at Hazlett avenue near the Althouse home. About 9 o'clock she was arrested by the police officers and locked up. Trouble in locating her was due principally to the fact that she moved from her old home yesterday.

Mrs. George is the divorced wife of Sample C. George, who formerly was a tenant of Saxton in his down town business block, conducting a dressmaking business. Her divorce was obtained in Dakota, and a proceeding later filed in court by the husband against Saxton charged that Saxton had sent her there to secure the divorce, the proceeding here being a suit for damages for the alleged alienation of the wife's affections. This case has been through all the intermediate courts and was passed upon by the state supreme court on an interpleading and finally remanded for hearing on its merits here. Before this occurred, and on Wednesday, a settlement was affected, Saxton paying George $1,825 on the claim set up of $20,000 for damages.

Mrs. George has also had several cases against Saxton, claiming the detention of furniture, the defense of Saxon being that the articles were held for overdue rent in the rooms.

Mrs. Althouse, in front of whose house the shooting occurred, several months ago began peace proceedings against Mrs. George, alleging that her life had been threatened.

Gripman Charles F. Rittenhouse, of car No. 2, said to a reporter:

"Mrs. George got on to my car at the square and rode west as far as Hazlett avenue where she got off. I do not know where she went for I took no particular notice of her. However, I know it was Mrs. George and that she got off at Hazlett avenue. She disappeared quickly somewhere."

Mr. Henry B. Ederman, residing at No. 1809 West Third street, about 200 feet from the Althouse residence said:

"I was in the Beron grocery when I heard two shots from a revolver and saw the flash from the mouth of a gun. I went immediately to the door of the store and after about two minutes had elapsed I heard two more. Before I heard those, however, I saw a woman or some one dressed in woman's clothes go away from the Althouse steps rather slowly, then turn around and go back again. At that time I heard the two more shots. This time the woman started to run. She left the pavement and ran up a vacant lot next to Mrs. R. M. Quinn's residence. We men then went across the road and found Saxton lying there."

WHEAT AGAIN ACTIVE.

Heavy Export Demands and Prices are Advancing.

It looks as though we were entering upon another bull wheat campaign, the foreign demand having increased recently, and as a consequence prices advanced. The world's bins are empty and of course the granaries of the United States are looked to for the deficiency. Commenting on the situation a financial article in the Philadelphia Record says:

"The exportation of wheat on a large scale has again become a prominent feature of the situation, and there is every prospect that the immense harvest of this country will find an active demand which will absorb it before next year's product can become available. Attention has been called to the fact that the occupation of Manila by the United States troops will teach Orientals the importance of wheat as a food producer. The countries of the Far East have lived on rice, and the introduction of wheat flour, if it should be done on a large scale, will easily absorb the surplus product of the United States. In commenting upon this subject Cuthbert Mills said in Tuesday's Tribune that there are in China four hundred millions of people, in Japan forty millions and in the Philippines nearly ten millions. This vast mass of humanity is undergoing an awakening which will make the first quarter of the next century one of the historic periods of the world. It is being leavened with the leaven of Western ideas. The leaven has been working for half a century; and now the effects are appearing. They are most conspicuous in Japan, which has been transferred. China is following; and the Philippine Islands under American control have unmeasured possibilities. It is a sign, the full significance of which is felt only by students of the subject, that these millions of people are beginning to eat bread. We have eaten bread so long we have forgotten what it signifies. But to eat bread made of wheat is the privilege only of people of the highest civilization. Even in Europe there are large sections where material comfort is still at so low a stage that only coarse or inferior substitutes for wheaten bread are consumed. The Orient has begun to eat bread. Its staple food is rice, but every year finds it importing Pacific coast flour in larger quantities, indicating the increased material prosperity of the people. This increasing comfort means enlarging wants. To supply these wants there is no nearer source to draw on than the Pacific coast. Europe is two weeks farther away.

Pumpkin pie and apple cider!
Cut 'er loose and open wider!
Ain't no time like fruitful autumn;
Hick'ry nuts in river bottom!
Who said fall was melancholy?
Just the time to be real jolly!
Stir the steaming apple butter;
Fry the doughnuts—hear 'em sputter!
See them trees with apples laden;
See the buxom country maiden!
Scenes of plenty bliss Arcad'n.
Sparkling eyes and rosy features;
Joyous, blessed, happy creatures;
Apple snits and pumpkin slices;
Eggs and butter bring good prices!
Gran'ries full and running over;

The First in 17 Years.

Mr. George Fasic, the well known Knight of the brush, is now the proudest man that walks the streets of Bellefonte. All day Friday he was singing to himself "Hush my babe lie still and slumber," and his friends wondered greatly. But now the secret has become known, for a bouncing baby boy arrived at his home Friday morning. It weighed nine pounds. It is the first in 17 years and George has a right to be proud of it. Accept our congratulations.

GARRISON FOR CUBA.

First Division is Already Under Orders to Move.

GEN. LEE WILL GO TO HAVANA

Likely to Sail the Latter Part of the present Month—Colonel Bryan and His Regiment Down for Departure.

OTHER TROOPS TO MOVE SOUTH

WASHINGTON, October 8.—Major General Fitzhugh Lee received an order from the war department yesterday directing him to move his command from Jacksonville, Fla., to Savannah, Ga., and get it in readiness to embark for Havana by the last of the month. General Lee left last night for Savannah to make preliminary arrangements to carry his orders into effect.

WASHINGTON, October 8.—The war department has completed its plans for the departure of the second expedition of troops to garrison Cuba. The first division is already under orders and should be started within a very few days from the southern ports near their camping grounds.

The First division starts under the command of Brigadier General L. H. Carpenter, United States volunteers, who commands the cavalry brigade composed of the Seventh and Eighth United States cavalry. He will hold his command of the entire division simply by reason of seniority over Brigadier General Snyder and Brigadier General Williston, and in the end a permanent designation must be made of a division commander. It is the intention of the war department that Major General Wade, now president of the military evacuation commission, shall command the entire force of United States troops assigned to duty in Cuba, but he will scarcely take active command until he has completed his duties with the commission.

The Second division will comprise all the troops now under the command of Major General Fitzhugh Lee. These troops are stationed at Jacksonville and the force comprises the following regiments—all volunteer troops:

The Second, Fourth and Ninth Illinois Infantry, One Hundred and Sixty-first Indiana infantry, Second Louisiana, Sixth Missouri, Third (Bryan's regiment) Nebraska, First North Carolina, Second South Carolina, First Texas, Fourth Virginia infantry and Second United States volunteer cavalry.

The general orders that will be issued to this division are to begin the movement about the first of November. or as soon thereafter as practicable. The indications are based on the proceedings of the military commission at Havana, that the troops will be sent not in a body, but in small regimental and brigade commands. and that these will be landed first on the western coast and perhaps part in the south, probably at Batabona. The animating purpose is to reduce the chances of hostile clashing between the retiring Spanish troops and the incoming American forces by keeping back the latter until the Spaniards have been deported.

About the time the movement of Lee begins, another movement will take place of troops now in the middle states towards the southern camps which have been selected by the Schwan board, lying in Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama. This will result in the abandonment of the camps at Middletown, Pa.; Lexington, Ky., and Knoxville. The southern camps are to be laid out in the best form with all the improvements that the experience of last summer has dictated. Wherever permanent buildings will conduce to the comfort and health of the troops they are to be erected, although the commanding officers are to keep in mind at all times the propriety of avoiding enervation of the men by keeping them too closely indoors and away from camp life.

Hair Hints

Is your hair dry, harsh, and brittle? Is it fading or turning gray? Is it falling out? Does dandruff trouble you? For any or all of these conditions there is an infallible remedy in Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor.

"For years, I was troubled with dandruff, large flakes scaling and falling off, causing great annoyance. Sometimes the itching of the scalp was almost unendurable. Prescriptions from eminent physicians, put up in my own drug store were tried, but failed to afford relief. At length I used Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in one week I found it helped me. At the end of only two weeks, my head was entirely free from dandruff, and as clean as a child's. I heartily recommend Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor to all who are suffering from diseases of the scalp."—EDWIN NORDSTROM, Drugs, etc., Sacred Heart, Minn.

MET A TRAGIC DEATH.

Decapitated Body of a Woman Found Along P. R.R. Track.

PROVED TO BE MRS. J. M. GARBRICK

Was Run Over and Killed by the Evening Passenger Train—Discovered by Some Boys on Their Way Home.

BELIEVED TO BE A SUICIDE

One of the saddest tragedies that ever took place in this vicinity occurred Monday evening when Mrs. Emma *G*arbrick, wife of J. *M*itchell Garbrick, a miller employed at Gerberich, Hale & Co's mill, was run over and killed by the evening passenger train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad.

The train is due here at 8:33 and after it had gone out several boys while walking down the railroad on their way home stumbled over the inanimate body of the unfortunate woman. One of the boys struck a match and found that one of their number was standing on part of the face of a woman. The woman's body was lying further up the track towards the mill. The boys were horrified by their discovery and at once hurried back to town and reported it to Coroner M. J. Locke.

The coroner was soon on the scene and hastily empaneled a jury. The body of a woman dressed in black was lying on the left hand side of the track and about twenty-five feet below the residence of L. H. Gettig. The head had been completely severed from the body and parts of it were scattered for fifteen feet along the track.

It was with difficulty that the body was identified but finally it was found that Mrs. Garbrick who lived in the other side of the house occupied by L. H. Gettig was missing. She had been ill for some time and was out of her mind and several times had threatened suicide. By means of the clothing on the body it was finally positively identified as Mrs. Garbrick.

The coroner ordered the remains taken in charge of by undertaker H. P. Harris, who removed them to his establishment on Howard street.

The coroner's jury met Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Coroner Locke's office. The boys who discovered the body were Joe Thompson, Curt Stover, Ray Strunk, Will Crissman, Dan *G*ordon and Rob Black.

The accident undoubtedly happened when the train was going out. They back out tender ahead and the trainmen never knew they struck the woman.

Mrs. Emma Garbrick was the wife of J. Mitchell *G*arbrick, her maiden name was Emma Wian, and was the daughter of Benjamin Wian of Mifflin county who died about 30 years ago. She was born in Mifflin county, and would have been 38 years old on the 16th of next November. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, *M*abel, aged 13 years, and the following sisters and one brother, namely, Daniel, of near Bellefonte; Mrs. William Reed, of near Mifflin county; Mrs. Henry Swabb, of Centre Hall; Mrs. William Gross, of Penns Valley; Mrs. Mary Ann Fowler, of Huntingdon county. Her mother is also living and makes her home with her son Daniel near Bellefonte.

Mrs. Garbrick was a sincere christian woman and a member of the Lutheran church. Her husband and family have the sincere sympathy of the public in their terrible affliction.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home on Thomas street. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors and several beautiful floral tributes were received. The services were conducted by Rev. H. C. Holloway, pastor of the Lutheran church of Bellefonte. The pall bearers were L. H. Gettig, Snyder Tate, David Barlett and H. W. Stover. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

Burglars at Jersey Shore.

Burglars broke into Sallada & Bros store at Jersey Shore Wednesday night and stole clothing, underwear, shoes, etc., worth about seventy five dollars.

A TIE GAME.

Football Season Opens With Academy Versus Altoona High School.

The opening of the football season in Bellefonte took place Saturday afternoon on the Glass works meadow when the crack eleven from the Academy went up against the strong team from the Altoona City High school. Over 500 people witnessed the game which was one of the cleanest and most evenly matched contests that ever took place in this city.

There was no wrangling on either side, no disputing the umpire's decisions and no one was hurt.

In the first half the Academy seemed to have an easy thing of it and in a little over 10 minutes Cassidy had scored a touchdown. Capt. Hughes then kicked a pretty goal and the struggle went on. With only a few seconds to spare, Cummings the giant of them all, succeeded in getting the pigskin over the line for another touchdown. This time they failed to kick a goal and the first half ended. Score 11 to 0 in favor of the Academy.

The second half however proved a complete surprise as the Mountain City boys did'nt do a thing but turn the tables on the home eleven scoring two touchdowns and kicking a goal thus tieing the score, Academy 11, Altoona High school 11.

This will probably result in another game in the near future either here or at Altoona. The Altoona delegation were all gentlemanly fellows and their stay here was a very pleasant one.

The line-up was as follows:

BELLEFONTE A.	POSITION	ALTOONA H. S
Palmer	right end	L. Farabaugh
Stevens	right tackle	Johnson
Sellers	right guard	Lingenfelter
Garbrich	center	Davis
Van Tassel	left guard	Kunzig
Decker	left tackle	Dalton
Twitmire	left end	Tippery
Hughes	quarter-back	Harnish
Henderson	right half back	A. Farabaugh
Cummings	left half back	Wehrle
Cassidy	full back	Faries

Referee, George T. Bush. Umpire, Adjutant John S. Fair; touchdowns Cummings, Cassidy, Wehrle, A. Farabaugh. Time twenty and fifteen minute halves.

No Verdict Rendered.

The jury empaneled by the Coroner of Centre County in the case of Mrs. J. Mitchell Garbrick, who was killed by the evening train on the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday night, met in Dr. M. J. Locke's office Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The following named composed the jury: George Weight, H. P. Harris, Henry Montgomery, John Walsh, Wm. Waddle and E. R. Chambers.

After hearing the evidence the jury adjourned until Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Death of Charles Musser.

Charles J. Musser, a well to do farmer of Fillmore, Centre county, died *M*onday afternoon of some kind of stomach trouble. The exact cause of death seems to be a mystery and a post-mortem examination was held Tuesday.

The deceased was a son of John Musser and was born near Bellefonte. He was 42 years of age. A wife and four children survive him. The funeral will take place this Thursday afternoon.

Two Dead, Four Ill.

Notorious William Hannah In the Toils of the Law.

On the night of the 19th of May 1897 the tailoring establishment of Charles *Mc*Clelland, on Allegheny street, this city was broke into and robbed of several suits of clothes. A few days later William Hannah and George McCormick were arrested on the charge of committing this crime. Some of the clothes were found on them and their guilt and conviction seemed certain. However on the 21st of June 1897 they both broke out of the Centre county jail and made good their escape. The county commissioners offered a reward of $50,00 for their capture but of no avail.

On Monday of this week Hannah was captured at Lebanon by Chief of Police W. W. Stine and Detective George A. Hunter of that place. Hannah admits his identity. He was brought to Bellefonte Tuesday evening for trial.

Nittany Rod and Gun Club Entertained.

Saturday the commodious and elegantly furnished club house of the Nittany Rod and *G*un Club at Hecla Park was a scene of gaiety and fashion. The occasion was the observance of the first annual "Farmers' Day," for which neat invitations had been sent out to each member of the club and their friends. A very large number of persons responded to these invitations, among whom were guests from Lock Haven, Williamsport, Philadelphia and Bellefonte.

The morning was spent in inspecting the club house, which is said to be one of the finest in Central Pennsylvania. When the noon hour came the large number of guests sat down to a sumptuous feast prepared with special care for the occasion. After the inner man had been bountifully supplied Judge John G. Love, of this place, was chosen toastmaster. Addresses on current subjects of the day were delivered by Hon. John Woodward, George B. Watson, professor of agriculture at State College; W. C Patterson, S. L. Foresman, of Williamsport; J. C. Dunkle and J. W. Gephart.

—Lieutenant George L. Jackson, of this city is about to receive a commission as 1st Lieut. in the United States regular army. He has been seeking this for some time and success seems about to crown his efforts. He is to be congratulated and we know he will make a first class soldier.

—Cards are out announcing the marriage of George Williard Hall, of Muncy, and *M*iss Lotta Spigelmyer, of this place. The ceremony will take place Wednesday evening, Oct. 26 at 6 o'clock in Presbyterian church.

—The Harrisburg Telegraph tells of a graceful act done by Secretary of the Commonwealth Martin last week. During the last hours in which certificates of nomination could be filed it was proven to the satisfaction of the secretary that a ten-cent revenue stamp must be placed on every certificate of nomination to make it valid. It was too late to communicate to the thousands of candidates or the chairmen of the respective parties, state and county, so Secretary Martin took his own money, quickly sent to the revenue office in Harrisburg for stamps, and when the department closed at 12.30 o'clock that night every certificate on file had been properly stamped.

To run a newspaper without occasionally publishing an item that is untrue or giving offenses, remarks an exchange, is like running a railroad without having accidents and smashups, it cant be done. No man on earth is so imposed on as an editor of a newspaper. Pushed with work continually, he must rely on second or third parties for information in regard to events that transpire. Frequently statements are received from reliable people which are subsequently discovered to be without foundation. If, therefore, kind reader, you find yourself aggrieved by some statement in your home paper, keep the fact in your mind. Don't fly off the handle, but go to the editor for correction, and take our word for it, nine cases out of ten, if your cause is a just one you will be received politely and the correction made with pleasure.

The Most Glorious Street Parade Ever Seen.

An all-surpassing eye-feast will be the monster street parade given by John W. Vogel's consolidated forces, Darkest America and his Afro-American Mastodon Minstrels, upon the principal thoroughfares of this city Friday at noon. The opulence and splendor of this grand display of pageantry are so majestic in wealth and impressiveness of features as to be without a parallel among exhibits of this kind. 'Tis an extraordinary and delightful spectacular episode, signalizing the advent of the superlative and limitless attractions which this peerless consolidation will exhibit at the Garman opera house. This gigantic, sweeping and brilliant centralization of the world's two greatest colored organizations has received the endorsement of the press and public alike. Notwithstanding the immensity of these combined attractions, the best reserved seats can be had for 35 and 50 cents, and are now on sale at Parrish's drug store.

The Disappearance of Justice Douglass.

NEW YORK, October 11.—The disappearance of Justice Douglass, of Jersey City from the steamboat Dean Richmond at albany, N. Y., Sunday, is attributed by many of his friends to financial troubles. It became known yesterday that a mortgage on the justice's residence was foreclosed last week and the house sold, Had he collected the $1,600 which the city stipulated to pay him for revising the laws concerning the city, he could have saved his house.

Justice Douglass's life was insured for $17,000. The policies are said to be incontestible.
